Amity Pledged Anew As French President Visits Britain's King

Pomp and Splendor of Pre-War Days Seen as M. Doumergue Arrives for Four-Day Stay in London—Brilliant State Banquet Held—Queen Decorated With Legion of Honor

Nations' Leaders Reaffirm Intention To Work Together in Cause of Peace

LONDON, May 16.—The Franco-British "entente cordiale" was sealed once again today by the official meeting of the heads of the two states with all the pomp and splendor of the days before the Great War. M. Doumergue, President of France, and Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, came here on a four-day visit to the King. Their steamer was met in mid-channel by a flotilla of British destroyers and escorted to Dover, where they were greeted by the Prince of Wales. A royal train brought them to London, where the King himself and many high officials gave them welcome.

The French President and the Foreign Minister put in a busy day before sitting down at a State banquet in Buckingham Palace tonight. They deposited wreaths with the tricolor on the Cenotaph and the tomb of the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey. They visited various members of the Royal Family and received numerous deputations from French and English societies.

STATE BANQUET HELD

The State banquet was a brilliant affair, the guests including the Prince of Wales, Prince Henry and Prince George, Princess Mary, the Duke of Connaught, Premier Baldwin and members of his Cabinet.

The famous gold plate adorned the tables, and the hall was decorated in white and blue. The King wore an admiral's uniform, while the Queen's gown was of creamy chiffon with opalescent effect. She wore a Russian-shaped crown of brilliants with the Koh-i-noor and other famous jewels, and also the Grand Cordon of the Legion of Honor, which the French President bestowed upon her shortly after his arrival.

PEACE TOASTED

The toasts were exchanged in French between the King and President, and were couched in terms of extreme cordiality. After welcoming the French statesmen and referring to post-war restoration, the King said:

"Much remains yet to be done, but as our two countries helped each other and united forces during the war, so will they continue to work together in the cause of pease, assured by general goodwill."

In replying, M. Doumergue added emphasis to the sentiments of his host by declaring:

"Tomorrow as today, we will continue to unite all efforts for the defence, consolidation and organization of peace with a view to assuring to Europe an era of order and prosperity and saving the world from a return of fearful conflagration."

A picturesque feature was the march by the King's pipers around the banqueting table, playing stirring pibroch music.

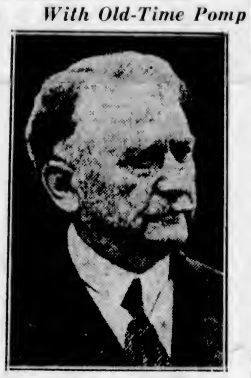

Spanish Monarch Today Observes Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Crowning

MADRID, May 16.—King Alfonso XIII will celebrate tomorrow the twenty-fifth anniversary of his coronation as King of Spain. It also will be his forty-first birthday, since he was born on May 17, 1886, five months after the death of his father. He has been a king longer than any other monarch now living, for he was born a king, although he was not crowned until his sixteenth birthday.

Cloudburst Damages Section of Honolulu

HONOLULU, May 16.—A cloudburst hit the southeastern section of Honolulu late today and undermined several houses, drowned livestock and damaged rice fields. Other sections of the city were not damaged. Heavy rain also fell in other sections of the islands.

Seventeen U.S. Marines Reported Dead in Clash With Nicaraguan Troops

MEXICO CITY, May 16.—Pedro Zepeda, representative here of the Liberal Nicaraguan Government, said tonight he had received special dispatches from Guatemala reporting that seventeen United States marines and twenty-five Liberals were killed in a clash when the marines attempted to disarm a Liberal group at La Paz, between Leon and Managua.

TRAMS HELD UP BY SLEEPY CAT

PUSS MAKES BED IN GENERATING SET, CAUSES SHORT CIRCUIT AND BURN-OUT

Street Railway Services Interrupted—Mishap Occurs at Rock Bay Sub-Station

People who waited at street corners yesterday for their cars, a curtailed service being necessary, did not know that a cat which slept too long was responsible.

Puss went to sleep in a motor generating set at the Rock Bay sub-station Sunday evening, after the plant closed down at the suspension of the day's work. The place was warm and attractive. It is not the first time the whirl of machinery next morning has sent a surprised and anxious cat scurrying to safety when the set is brought into use. On this occasion, however, puss was too tired to stir when the machinery was set in motion yesterday morning, and the first evidence the staff had of her demise was a burn-out. The centrifugal force of the revolutions—514 per minute—drew her up to the coils, and the moisture of the body apparently short-circuited the instrument, leading to a burn-out.

When the generator was dismantled, the remains of the cat were discovered. There will be a delay of a day or two while the burned out coils are replaced, representing quite an expense, as well as inconvenience to traffic.

The general superintendent, Mr. G. M. Tripp, recalls that a similar feline tragedy occurred at the sub-station about ten years ago, but in that case no damage was done to the generator, nor was service interrupted.

This mishap will not hold up the commercial and lighting services.

GERMANS MAULED BY POLISH VOTERS

Poles Accused of Violence in Upper Silesian Elections—Teutons Clubbed, Refugees Charge

BRESLAU, Germany, May 16.—Anti-German demonstrations during elections at Rybnik, Upper Silesia, are reported by Germans arriving at the polish frontier.

According to the refugees' stories Polish Nationalists at Rybnik banded together in groups of about fifty and manhandled Germans during the municipal elections yesterday. Germans who sought to cast ballots were clubbed by the rioters. It is asserted, and German watchers were not permitted to attend the counting of the votes. Private homes belonging to Germans were reported invaded and even some Germans coming from church molested.

BALKAN TOWNS PANIC-STRUCK BY 37 QUAKES

Inhabitants of Jugo-Slavia Terrified by Successive Shocks—Eight Deaths So Far Reported

RESIDENTS TAKE REFUGE IN PARKS

Homes Deserted as Bricks Shower From Housetops—Fissure Opens in Walls of Royal Palace

BELGRADE, May 16.—Thirty-seven tremors have been felt in Jugo-Slavia within the past forty-eight hours. Some lives have been lost in the panics caused by the quakes and considerable material damage has been reported.

Eight deaths have been reported in dispatches from the provinces. Two victims were killed jumping from upper story windows.

Shocks last night drove many people of Belgrade from their homes in night clothes. They gathered in parks and along the riverfront in order to be out of range of any falling bricks.

The danger here, however, was slight, with the exception of some fissures opened in the walls of the royal palace and the foreign ministry.

Tremors were registered from early Sunday morning on into the night. Seismologists predict that further shocks will be felt.

AIRPLANE FOUND; NOT NUNGESSER'S

Craft Discovered Drifting in North Sea Not Machine Used by Paris Flyers, Friends Say

ATLANTIC SEARCH STILL FRUITLESS

PARIS, May 16.—The committee backing the Nungesser Paris-New York flight, according to the Havas Agency, declares that the Nungesser plane carried no such inscription as that on the plane said to have been picked up by a German steamer in the North Sea.

PLANE PICKED UP

LONDON, May 16.—The Air Ministry has received information that a German steamer has found an airplane, believed to be French, drifting off Lynn Well lightship, near Hunstanton, Norfolk, bordering on the North Sea. The airplane bore the number T-51, 232, 404.

NEWFOUNDLAND GLOOMY

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 16.—Although a full week has passed since Captains Nungesser and Coli, French transatlantic flyers, were expected to reach this side of the Atlantic on their flight from Paris to New York, the fate of the aviators tonight remained a mystery.

Since Monday of last week, when the failure of the plane White Bird to reach its destination turned expectancy into gloom, coastal vessels, radio stations and all the agencies of the Newfoundland Government have sought vainly for trace of the two French aces.

It was the general impression here tonight that the only hope remaining was that Nungesser and Coli had come down near the Grand Banks fishing fleet or in a remote cove on the south coast. In either case time would be required for news of the rescue to reach the outside world. If the men landed in some far-off fishing settlement it might be days before the fact could become known here.

MAY BE ON COAST

Since Wednesday a number of persons in various parts of Newfoundland have reported hearing an airplane engine last Monday morning. The fog was dense at the time and only one person, an aged woman in Harbor Grace, claimed to have seen the plane. Some of these reports have been dismissed after investigation by the authorities.

If a plane actually passed over the island on that date, the authorities believe that Nungesser and Coli must have reached the south coast in their flight. Search is being conducted in Placentia and Fortune Bays on that theory by the French steamer Angeaz from St. Pierre. The Newfoundland Constabulary and the Government telegraphs service are co-operating in the search, as well as all coastwise shipping.

Sharp Tremors Sway California Buildings

EUREKA, Cal., May 16.—Two sharp earthquake shocks, each of several seconds' duration, were felt in Eureka and Humboldt county towns shortly before 7 o'clock this evening. The shocks gently swayed buildings and rattled windows, awakening many from slumber. No damage was reported.

VANCOUVER, May 16.—Rt. Hon. H. G. Burgess, general manager of the London, Midlands & Scottish Railway, is a visitor in Vancouver in the course of a vacation tour of the United States and Canada with members of his family. He arrived this afternoon in a private car on the Great Northern Railway.

FLAG BILL DRAWS GEN. SMUTS' FIRE

War - Time South African Leader Blazes Out at New Legislation—Warns of Disaster

MEASURE BROUGHT BACK INTO HOUSE

CAPETOWN, South Africa, May 16.—General Jan Christian Smuts, former Premier of the Union of South Africa, blazed out in his old-time oratorical fervor when the now famous Flag Bill of the Government was introduced in the Union Assembly today.

"The step the Government is taking is a mistake and a dire calamity, that might produce disaster to the country," asserted the former Premier, amid cheers from the opposition benches.

The design of South Africa's projected national flag does not take in the Union Jack.

"Ever since the establishment of the Union," General Smuts said, "we have always come to an agreement on matters of great national concern. Now the Government has made a new departure in trying to force the measure through."

He asked the House and the country to pause gravely before proceeding further because neither the English nor the Dutch were races to submit to coercion of any kind. He was confident that the Government was "going to fail," but there would be an aftermath of bitterness and suspicion which would continue to poison public life for many years.

"Premier Hertzog," General Smuts continued, "was warmly welcomed after the Imperial Conference. People were prepared to sink their differences, but a great opportunity was missed and generous feeling for the Prime Minister turned to bitterness and gall."

AMBASSADOR IS EXPECTED HERE

SIR ESME HOWARD IS DIPLOMAT WHO BELIEVES IN FRANKNESS AS BEST POLICY

British Envoy at Washington Will Be Guest of Canadian Club Here on Saturday Evening

Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador to the United States, is expected to arrive here on Saturday, and will be the guest of the Canadian Club of Victoria at a dinner that evening.

The British Ambassador has been much feted in California. He reached Portland last evening, and will remain there today and tomorrow, leaving for Seattle tomorrow evening. Several engagements have been arranged for His Excellency in Portland, and similar plans have been made in Seattle.

Sir Esme, who was trained for the diplomatic service, after a few years in various capacities retired from it in 1892, and made his only venture—unsuccessful—for the British House of Commons for the city of Worcester in that year. Of that contest he recently spoke at Worcester, Mass., as follows:

"Thirty-five years ago I was foolish enough to have ambitions for a political career and was selected to woo the city of Worcester, England, as a Liberal candidate for Worcester. Well, Worcester rejected my advances with such decision that I never courted another constituency, and I have remained contentedly ever since a political bachelor."

After some experience in politics, he returned to the diplomatic service, and has held posts at Rome, Washington,

Two American Marines Killed by Nicaraguans

WASHINGTON, May 16.—United States marines in Nicaragua have suffered the first serious casualties since they were dispatched to that war-torn country last January for the announced purpose of protecting American lives and property.

Captain Richard B. Buchanan, of this city, and Private Marvin A. Jackson, of Chicago, were killed and two other marines wounded, the Navy was advised officially late today, when a guerrilla band of Nicaraguans attacked an American detachment at 2 a.m. today at La Paz Centro, near Leon.

LABOR M. P.'S LEAVE HOUSE AS PROTEST

Party Walks From Commons in Body When Government Applies "Guillotine" to Trades Union Discussion

DEBATE CONFINED TO TWELVE DAYS

Cheers and Ministerial Laughter Ring Out as Laborites Make Spectacular Protest Against Premier's Course

LONDON, May 16.—The House of Commons had a short but unusually exciting sitting today. There were numerous demonstrations against the Government, but these were not serious enough to call for the Speaker's intervention.

The Labor members walked out of the House in protest against the action of the Premier in limiting the debate on the Government's Trades Union Bill.

Premier Baldwin secured consent of the House for a night-long sitting if necessary, to debate the motion which he then moved, applying the "guillotine" to the Trades Union Bill. He explained it was necessitated by the extremely slow progress the bill was making in the face of persistent opposition and obstruction.

The Premier's motion proposed that twelve more days be allotted to the committee stage and four more for all the remaining stages. This would mean wholesale slaughter of the opposition amendments, hundreds of which are on the order paper.

LABOR WALKS OUT

At the conclusion of the Prime Minister's speech came the surprise of the day. John Robert Clynes, leader of the opposition, in the absence of Ramsay MacDonald, voiced the indignation of his party. He declared that Mr. Baldwin's speech was unequalled for cool audacity—the Government seemed bent on the destruction of the constitutional usage of Parliament and was grossly abusing the power of its numbers and reducing the business of the House to mockery.

The opposition, said Mr. Clynes, refused to be a party to, or sit in the House to countenance such proceedings. Amid cheers, counter cheers and ministerial laughter, all the Laborites quitted the House.

Former Premier Lloyd George expressed deep regret at the scene which, he thought, was no cause for laughter, and said he would vote against Mr. Baldwin's motion.

The motion was then carried by a vote of 259 to 13, only a few Liberals opposing it, and the House, which had expected to sit for many hours, having no further business, adjourned until tomorrow, when the committee stage will be resumed.

Meantime the Labor party met outside and endorsed mr. Clynes' attitude. Another meeting will be held tomorrow morning to consider further action.

Condition of B. C. Premier Is Improving

The fact that no message was received from Rochester, Minn., relative to the condition of Premier Oliver yesterday is taken as an assurance that the head of the Government of the Province is progressing satisfactorily, following an operation.

Dr. Robert Oliver, a son of the Premier, who is practising his profession in Hamilton, Ont., is in Rochester with his father and in a message sent by him Sunday to Mrs. Oliver he intimated that the Premier was doing well and that he would remain with him until he was well.

It is presumed that in the absence of any message yesterday the patient must be continuing to make headway towards recovery.

PUKOW, CAPTURED, ABANDONED AGAIN

Northerners' Artillery Reported Too Heavy for Southern Troops—Gunfire Followed by Evacuation

LONDON, May 16.—A Shanghai dispatch to The Daily Express attributes from an U.S. naval source the statement that General Chiang Kai Shek's troops (Nationalist) who occupied Pukow Sunday, evacuated it at night, recrossing to the southern bank in the darkness.

This news, the correspondent says, was contained in a radio report from the U.S. destroyer McCormick, which added that no northern or southern troops were in Pukow for twenty miles along the northern shore of the river.

The artillery fire from the Northerners, who withdrew to the undulating region two miles north of Pukow, apparently was too much for the Southern captors, who, however, had maintained an artillery duel throughout the day.

Painting Changes Hands For Price of $150,000

NEW YORK, May 16.—Rembrandt's painting, "The Visitation of St. Elizabeth," for fourteen years the property of Baron Alfred de Rothschild, London banker, has been sold to the Detroit Museum of Arts for approximately $150,000, it was announced today by Knoedler & Co., art dealers.

Liberal Government Is Returned to Power In Quebec Election

Premier Taschereau Resumes Office With Following of Seventy-Two — Conservatives Elect Ten Candidates and Independent Liberals Two—One Riding Still to Name Representative

Entire Cabinet Successful at Polls; Opposition Leader Is Again Re-elected

MONTREAL, May 16.—The Liberal party, under the premiership of Hon. T. A. Taschereau, was swept back into power in the provincial elections held today. They have been in the saddle in Quebec since 1897 and will continue in office for at least four years more as the majority given them today was thoroughly sweeping. According to the latest information available tonight the new Quebec Legislature will be: Liberals, 72; Independent Liberals, 2; Conservatives, 10.

Leads Government To Polls' Victory

PREMIER TASCHEREAU
Of Quebec, whose administration was returned to office in Quebec yesterday.

One election, that in Gaspe, will be held on May 23 and possibly will add another seat to the Liberal quota. The Independents are expected to vote with the Government on most questions. The Liberals gained fourteen seats from the Conservatives, the Independents gained two from the straight party Liberals and the Conservatives gained two from the Liberals.

A feature of the results was the success of a Conservative in Hull, where he was faced by three Liberal opponents.

ENTIRE CABINET ELECTED

With Premier Taschereau, who has been elected by acclamation, was returned his entire Cabinet.

Arthur Sauve, the Opposition leader, was re-elected for his old constituency of Two Mountains.

The Opposition had expected to carry many seats with their arguments that the administration was deserving of censure because it had not awarded special damages to the parents of the seventy-eight children burned to death in the Laurier Palace moving picture disaster, and because of the industrialization of the Lake St. John country and the consequent deprivation of certain owners of their property without adequate compensation. They were disappointed in both instances.

The Young Catholic Farmers' Union, a wing of the Opposition, failed to attract the electorate and its candidates in Richmond and Rouville were easily defeated.

MR. SAUVE TO RESIGN?

Interest now centres on the statement made during the campaign by Mr. Sauve that he would either be returned as premier of the province or as a back bencher. Whether Mr. Sauve will resign leadership of the party now is a matter which is being canvassed.

Results in various constituencies follow:

St. Sveur—Cantin, Liberal, conceded. Liberal gain.

St. Maurice—Prignon, Independent Liberal, elected, conceded.

Quebec County—Bedard, Liberal, elected. Liberal gain.

Maisonneuve, Montreal—W. Tremblay, Conservative, elected. No change.

Verdun—J. A. Lefleur, Conservative, conceded. Unchanged.

Laurier, Montreal—Poulin, Liberal, conceded. Liberal gain.

St. Henri, Montreal—Hon. A. Leduc, Liberal, conceded. Liberal gain.

Sherbrooke—A. C. Crepeau, Conservative, conceded. Unchanged.

Montreal, St. James—I. Vautrin, Liberal, conceded. Liberal gain.

Beauharnois—L. J. Papineau, Liberal, conceded. Liberal gain.

Laval—Renaud, Conservative, elected. Unchanged.

Charlevoix-Saugnay — Rochette, Independent Liberal, conceded. Independent gain.

Soulanges—A. Farand, Liberal, elected. Liberal gain.

Two Mountains—Arthur Sauve, Conservative, conceded. Unchanged.

St. George's, Montreal—C. E. Gault, Conservative, conceded. Unchanged.

Westmount, Montreal—C. A. Smart, Conservative, conceded. Unchanged.

St. Lawrence, Montreal—J. Cohen, Liberal, conceded. Liberal gain.

Temiscouata—Casgrain, Liberal, conceded. Liberal gain.

Three Rivers—Duplessis, Conservative, conceded. Conservative gain.

Joliette—Dugal, Liberal, conceded. Liberal gain.

Mercier, Montreal—Dr. A. Plant, Liberal, conceded. Liberal gain.

Dorion, Montreal—A. Blain, Conservative, conceded. Unchanged.

Hull County—A. Guertin, Conservative, conceded. Conservative gain.

STORMS DELAY PARIS FLIGHT

Bellanca, Lindbergh and Byrd Planes Groomed for Dash Across Atlantic—Dissension Breaks Out

AIRMEN INSIST ON RADIO AID

MINEOLA, N.Y., May 16.—Brewing storms, both atmospheric and verbal, kept the transatlantic planes in their hangars today. Strong squally winds swept the flying fields all day so that projected local test flights had to be abandoned. Combination of wind and dissension prevented another longer flight that had been announced at noon for this afternoon.

During the morning, the crews of all three planes which plan the Paris hop worked around the hangars and an air of peace settled over the camps with the report that dissension between flyers and backers of the Bellanca flight had been smoothed out to the satisfaction of all.

Commander R. E. Byrd announced that his giant Fokker America would go up during the day with a 12,000-pound load, which is 2,000 pounds below the weight to be carried on the hop-off. G. Bellanca, designer of the plane in which Clarence Chamberlin and Lloyd Bertaud will fly for France, stated that his monoplane probably would fly to Washington and back during the day to test instruments. He said that both flyers had agreed such a test was necessary.

TESTS CALLED OFF

The America test flight was called off because of unfavorable winds. These winds, no doubt, would have prevented the flight of the Chamberlin-Bertaud Columbia, too, but it was stopped without consideration to the weather by the flyers.

When told of Bellanca's announcement they said that they had no intention of flying to Washington and that they had never agreed to such a flight. Their remarks were taken as an indication that all the differences between the various persons interested in the flight had not been erased and that harmony was balanced on an exceedingly fine point.

This theory was further strengthened when it was learned that a controversy was under way concerning equipment of the plane with a radio. Chamberlin and Bertaud have planned all along to carry radio, but today Charlie Levine, president of the company backing the flight, suggested doing without it. He was insistent in his contention that the sixty pounds saved by leaving the radio at home would add enough speed to outweigh what service the radio might prove to be.

PILOTS WANT RADIO

Bertaud emphatically stated that he would not make the trip without radio and Chamberlin declined to make any statement, at least publicly, taking no part in the controversy.

While the Byrd party went ahead with plans for a test flight which will postpone their hop-off at least three days and the Chamberlin-Bertaud camp was split by a growing dissension, Charles Lindbergh, the youthful air mail pilot from the Middle West, went to New York to see about a passport, and his single-seated monoplane,

QUEBEC LIBERALS GAIN IN MONTREAL

Six Seats in Metropolis Pass From Opposition to Government Hands—Four Conservatives Elected

MONTREAL, May 16.—Premier Taschereau's plea for more representation from the city of Montreal appears to have borne fruit, for in the provincial general election today the metropolis returned nine Liberals, six of whom were gains from the Conservative party. The Government gained Laurier, Mercier, St. Mary, St. Henry, St. James and St. Lawrence, all of which had previously been held by the Conservative party.

Conservatives were returned in Dorion, St. George and Verdun. St. Anne had previously returned Hon. J. H. Dillon, Liberal, by acclamation, while Maisonneuve and St. Louis were unchanged (Liberal). Westmount again went Conservative.

COUNCIL HEARS VIEWS OF CHAMBER

Opinion Is Expressed Adverse to Disposal of Willows Property

The report of the special committee of the Chamber of Commerce against the sale of the Willows Park was read before the City Council last night.

The report was received, and the chamber will be thanked for the interest shown.

Alderman Dewar said he was pleased to see that the chamber was taking an interest, and he hoped that it would endeavor to secure from Oak Bay a remission of the taxes on the Willows property.

Alderman Marchant deprecated interference in such a matter. He would rather hear the views of the Labor men.

Alderman Woodward expressed the view that the chamber had a perfect right to give its views on such a subject.

Ten Workers Injured As Mine Cage Drops

SCRANTON, Pa., May 16.—Ten men were injured, nine of them seriously this morning when a cage on which the men were being lowered into the Johnson Mine of the Scranton Coal Company, at Dickson City, dropped sixty feet to the bottom of the six-hundred-foot shaft. Four suffered broken legs and the others were injured internally.

Company officials said the accident occurred when George Brownell, fifty-five, engineer, became ill at his post and fell unconscious on the floor, allowing the cage to run away as it neared the foot of the shaft. The cage struck the bottom with great force and threw the men in all directions.

ITALY BEGINS TO EXCAVATE ANCIENT CITY

King Victor Emmanuel Turns First Sod Inaugurating Great Work at Site of Herculaneum

POMPEII FINDS TO BE EXCEEDED

Rich Trove Likely to Be Found in Buried Town, Favorite Watering Place of Wealthy Romans

RESIBA, Italy, May 16.—A labor which has defied human ingenuity for 1,848 years was begun today under the auspices of the Italian Government, when King Victor Emmanuel officially inaugurated the work of excavating the ancient Roman city of Herculaneum, which, with its neighbor Pompeii, was buried in 79 A.D. by an eruption of the neighboring volcano, Mount Vesuvius.

Pompeii has been excavated, but it is hoped Herculaneum will prove even a richer trove of archaeological treasure, since it was a Summer resort of the rich instead of being a commercial town like Pompeii.

The King came to the opening ceremony today in regal style on board the royal yacht, accompanied by four destroyers and receiving salutes from all sides. A great throng welcomed him on his arrival at Portici, built partly over the ruins of Pompeii. Many of the gathering came from families which in times past have suffered loss and death through the wrath of "The Mountain," whose smoke-crowned heights formed the background for today's ceremony. All the crowd were in holiday dress, even Vesuvius was declared to be smoking a little more freely.

Herculaneum, buried a hundred feet under lava and mud, stretches up the slope of Vesuvius from the Bay of Naples. It lies partly under Resiba and Portici, and also under some of the vineyards which produce the famous "Tears of Christ" wine.

ITALIAN AIRMAN DELAYED IN U.S.

ACCIDENTAL FOULING OF SPARK PLUG HALTS TAKE-OFF FOR MONTREAL

Four-Continent Flyer Will Keep Watch for Missing Frenchmen on Flight to Azores

CHICAGO, May 16.—Commander Francesco de Pinedo, the Italian four-continent flyer, tonight passed what he expected to be his last night in the United States on his present flight.

De Pinedo, delayed here today because of a fouled spark plug, hoped to leave for Montreal tomorrow. From there he will fly to Newfoundland, his last stop on the American continent before his jump to the Azores. On the flight to the Azores, De Pinedo and his companions will watch for traces of the missing French flyers, Nungesser and Coli.

The delayed take-off from Chicago enabled the Italian naval flyer to carry out part of the programme abandoned yesterday because of his late arrival. De Pinedo placed a wreath on the statue of Garibaldi, the Italian patriot, in Lincoln Park; drove over Chicago's boulevard, visited the downtown district, and stopped in at the Chicago White Sox baseball park.

An unexpected swell in Lake Michigan, which splashed water into the ignition of his plane, delayed De Pinedo's flight today. He had waved goodbye to the thousands gathered to see him take off, and was headed into the open lake when a swell splashed over the forward part of his twin-engined plane. As it would take several hours to dry out the ignition, he altered his plans and decided to make another attempt tomorrow.

STORMS DELAY PARIS FLIGHT

Spirit of St. Louis, rested in its hangar, ready to leave as soon as weather permits.

The four o'clock weather report given the flyers by the weather bureau precluded all reasonable chance of their getting away tomorrow and indicated that favorable weather could not be expected for at least two days.

in Crete, Hungary, and later Switzerland, Sweden and Spain.

A personal sketch of him by Mr. Charles Vining is quoted:

"'Do you like being a diplomat?' I asked him.

"'Well,' he replied, 'there are many other things I would rather be, but I tried quite a few of them and was a failure, so I became a diplomat.'

"'What are the peculiar qualifications?'

"'I am not sure,' replied Sir Esme, 'but I don't believe high intelligence is one of them.'

"'Perhaps,' I suggested, 'it is the concealment of intelligence,' which seemed to amuse him.

"'I really believe,' he added, 'that one of the first essentials in diplomacy is entire frankness. One can speak the truth and not hurt. It is not the truth which hurts people so often as the way the truth is spoken. The way things are said is often what counts.'

"It is a refreshing conception to obtain from a diplomat of an art which the average person believes is steeped in mystery and double entendres and secret codes and intrigue. Sir Esme Howard, in fact, is not the least like the diplomat of one's imagination except in the distinction of his appearance. He is too thoroughly companionable to be a plotter. Perhaps that is why he is regarded as the most popular of all Washington's diplomats."

DOLLAR CHARGES BARRED BY COURT

Magistrate Excludes Letters Declared to Contain Instructions for Falsification of Records

VANCOUVER, May 16.—By refusing to allow the reading of letters alleged to have been written by D. Buckley, controller, Magistrate H. C. Shaw today ended the sensational charges of book and record falsification made a week ago against the Canadian Robert Dollar Company by Ralph Beaumont McCarty, who pleaded guilty to five charges of forgery involving $10,865 of his employers' money. McCarty was remanded to Thursday for sentence.

When McCarty last week stated under oath that his first criminal step had been taken when an official of the company ordered him to falsify the books of the concern and this act had influenced him in later robbing the firm, Magistrate Shaw adjourned to allow company officials to be present. Counsel appeared for the company and entered an objection, and said that the statement of McCarty was not material to the case and he would not object to it if the magistrate was trying a charge against the company. He said that if there was anything to the statement of the account it was not an official act of any executive of the company.

Dugald Donaghy, counsel for McCarty, then attempted to read two letters which McCarty had declared were his instructions from D. Buckley, San Francisco, controller of the company, to falsify the books of the local office.

Magistrate Shaw declared that he did not see why he should allow the letters, to be read as the statement of the accused was just as strong as if corroborated by the correspondence.

Border Parley Delay Regarded as Favorable

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State, could not say today when the border immigration conference will reconvene. The conference stands adjourned at the secretary's call.

The delay is construed by some newspapermen as favorable to Canada, indicating that Secretary Kellogg is unwilling to accept the new regulations as they stand and favors the postponement of the effective date, now fixed at June 1. Enforcement of the regulations on that date would mean the certain exclusion of non-native Canadians residing in Canada and working in the United States, it is claimed by Canada, because there is no room for them on this year's quota.

RAID UNCOVERS SOVIET SECRETS

EVIDENCE OF ANTI-BRITISH PLOT FOUND, NEWSPAPERS ASSERT

Proof of Russian Backing of Last Year's Strike Declared Discovered in Arcos House

LONDON, May 16.—Some of the papers supporting the Baldwin Government claim to have learned that while the British State document supposed to have been secreted in Soviet House was not found during the police raid, other discoveries amply justified the sensational forcing of the Soviet safes.

These discoveries are alleged to include evidence of an anti-British conspiracy directed by the Soviet Government, proof of the payment of British agitators by Moscow during last year's general strike, and the establishment of suspicions that operations of Arcos, Ltd., the Soviet commerical organization, have been used to cover Bolshevik activities here.

In quarters where these discoveries are alleged, it is declared that diplomatic action will inevitably follow the revelations of the raid.

Regarding the relations of the British Socialists and the Soviet mission, The Daily Mail says examination of the staff registered at Soviet House revealed a number of Socialist members of Parliament and local Socialist authorities, members of whose families are in the service of the Soviet departments.

BRITAIN ATTACKED

GENEVA, May 16.—M. Khinchuk, head of the Soviet trade delegation to England, whose offices were searched in the police raid on Soviet House, London, denied today the report that the Legation possessed a document belonging to the British Foreign Office.

M. Khinchuk, who is here to attend the International Economic Conference, told the foreign correspondents he knew of no reason for the raid, which he termed an "open and flagrant violation of the trade agreement of 1921 between the Soviet Union and Great Britain."

"An enraged campaign has been carried out by the die-hard groups for severance of relations between Great Britain and the Soviet Union, a campaign which has severely injured the work of our delegation," he declared.

He had struggled to foster business relations with Great Britain and had succeeded in arranging several large contracts, he continued. The raid had caused indignation among the Soviet public, which was demanding withdrawals of the orders from England and their placement elsewhere.

"Great Britain," he said, "is attempting to put obstacles before Geneva's efforts (in the International Economic Conference) to find ways for the co-existence of the two economic systems represented by Soviet Russia and the capitalistic countries."

Gobi Desert Beckons Two Exploring Groups

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—The Gobi Desert in Mongolia, goal of two great scientific expeditions, may be reached this Summer by Roy Chapman Andrews and Dr. Sven Hedin, according to a letter received by the United Press today from Dr. James H. Ingram, of Peking.

Andrews, head of the expedition of the American Museum of Natural History, who admittedly is seeking the Garden of Eden, was held up last year by bandits, who, influenced by Russians, would not allow him to enter Mongolia.

Dr. Hedin, one of the greatest contemporary explorers and anthropologists, has assembled an expedition which cost $100,000 to equip. He believes that in the great Gobi Desert he will find evidence of the cradle of the American Indian race.

Thus far this year both expeditions have met the same fate which befell Andrews last year, but according to Dr. Ingram the severance of diplomatic relations between Russia and Japan, renewed hope springs in the breasts of the explorers.

Sacred Rota Refuses To Nullify Marriage

ROME, May 16.—Nullificaion of the marriage of Prince Henry of Piess with Mary Theresa Cornwallis-West, sister of the Duchess of Westminster, has been refused by the Sacred Tribunal Rota. The couple were married in 1891 and divorced in 1922. Application for nullification was on the ground that the marriage was contracted under coercion.

In one way the Piess-Cornwallis case is somewhat similar to the Marlborough-Vanderbilt case, in which nullification was granted. The former Princess of Piess set up the claim that the marriage was null because she loved another man and her mother forced her to marry Prince Henry against her will.

It is stated that Prince Henry on his side pleaded that he had been forced to marry Lady Mary. But the Sacred Rota reached the conclusion that the coercion of either or both lacked sufficient proof and therefore gave sentence refusing nullification.

APPLE EXPORTS DROP

LONDON, May 16—The Daily Telegraph's Melbourne correspondent cables that the Australian export of apples this year is lowest in twenty years. The exports reached 1,439,000 cases, of which almost a million cases have been sent to Britain, compared with 4,250,000 cases exported last year.

DR. TOLMIE URGES UNITY IN CANADA

B.C. Conservative Chieftain Tells Canadian Club That National Spirit Must Be Developed in This Dominion

VALUE OF BRITISH CONNECTION CITED

Speaker Appeals for the Conservation of Canadian Opportunities for the Benefit of the People of Canada

"If we are going to make this country a great United Canada, we must keep Canada and Canadianism before us always. We must create a pride of country and of our traditions, and a pride in being a part of the Great Empire. The creation of a national spirit is most important, and the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation this year offers a splendid opportunity to instill into Canadians this spirit of nationhood. We should get busy and develop our country, and realize that we have the greatest opportunities of any country in the world."

Thus spoke Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Federal member for Victoria, in addressing the Men's Canadian Club of Victoria, yesterday in the Empress Hotel ballroom. A representative gathering of local citizens, including members of the Women's Canadian Club, listened with rapt attention to Dr. Tolmie's words, and applauded his message.

Upon rising to address the large audience, Dr. Tolmie was tendered a flattering ovation, the applause lasting several minutes.

AT THE HEAD TABLE

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce and Attorney-General A. M. Manson attended, and others occupying seats at the head table were His Honor Judge P. S. Lampman, Mr. Henry C. Hall, K.C., Mr. John Cochrane, Mr. James Forman, Mr. Joseph Patrick, Mr. Lindley Crease, K.C., Rev. Dr. W. Leslie Clay, Mr. H. A. Munn, and Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn, secretary to Lieutenant-Governor Bruce

Mr. Kenneth Ferguson, president of the Men's Canadian Club, said he was pleased to see so many past presidents of the club at the head table. He extended his thanks to those members of the club who were giving their time in addressing the various schools in Victoria on historical subjects.

In introducing Hon. S. F. Tolmie, President Ferguson stated that the British Columbia Conservative leader was a native son of Victoria, and that this year he would, like the Dominion of Canada, celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of his birth. Mr. Ferguson referred to Dr. Tolmie's parliamentary experience and his visits to all the provinces of Canada. "Dr. Tolmie is well equipped to speak on this subject. We are proud to have him as a fellow citizen and admire him as a great Canadian," he said, amid prolonged applause.

HOPES FOR RECOVERY

Before proceeding to his address, Dr. Tolmie expressed his gratification at learning that Premier Oliver was making satisfactory progress following his recent operation at Rochester, Minn., and extended best wishes for his early recovery and return to his official duties.

Dr. Tolmie declared that "A United Canada implies a great deal, because a United Canada is an absolute necessity if we are going to enjoy our full measure of peace and prosperity in this land. A United Canada implies, as I interpret it, unanimity of opinion and common ideals in such matters as national outlook, our commercial and industrial expansion, the settlement of our outstanding domestic problems and the determination of principles which must serve as solid foundation stones in nation building."

The speaker described the first foundation stone in national unity as a spirit of tolerance, fair play and an appreciation of the other fellows' point of view. He held that lack of this understanding was to a great extent due to the huge area of Canada and the great distances between the various provinces.

URGES MINGLING MORE

In suggesting how the situation could be met, Dr. Tolmie thought that Canadians should do everything possible to mingle more with each other to get a better understanding of the various problems confronting them, to make allowances for the various conditions existing in the provinces, and to approach the whole matter with a spirit of compromise.

"We cannot have one-sided unity. We must be willing to compromise and co-operate," Dr. Tolmie declared.

A suggestion that all members of the House of Commons make it a practice to visit distant parts of Canada to familiarize themselves with the problems of these places so that they could discuss them more effectively in Parliament, was advanced by Dr. Tolmie, who considered that this would bring extremely beneficial results in the solution of national problems.

Dr. Tolmie observed that the press could render very valuable service by proper presentation of the facts and by using their influence to create throughout Canada a better understanding between the peoples of the various provinces.

PROSPEROUS CONDITION

An important factor in bringing about unity, the speaker claimed, was to place the country in a prosperous condition. "We should be a self-supporting country as far as possible. We are at the present time exporting our raw materials in huge quantities in other lands, with the result that we find our young people leaving home to secure employment. I have always been a strong advocate of having this material manufactured at home as far as it is practicable. Last year we imported about $610,000,000 of goods from the United States, much of which could have been produced at home and have given employment to our own people."

The speaker asserted that every citizen in this country could render valuable service toward keeping young men and women in Canada by purchasing home products, both from the factory and farm, in preference to those imported from a foreign country. By purchasing at home, Canadians developed their home market, and made business conditions better, both for the farmer and the manufacturer.

Another matter of tremendous importance was the encouragement of interprovincial trade. "We should try and trade within the country, instead of sending our money out of the country," Dr. Tolmie thought.

CONSERVE OPPORTUNITIES

Dr. Tolmie said he was a firm believer in conserving Canadian opportunities for the benefit of Canadian people. This must be done if Canada was going to keep her young people, one of the greatest assets she has, within her boundaries. To follow a policy of this kind would vastly increase home markets, both for the producers in the city and those in the country, he held.

"To bring about prosperity in the land, we should develop our export markets for the absorption of surplus products. Shut out to a large extent from the United States by a high tariff, we must look elsewhere for surplus markets and the best of these is that of the Mother Country. This market can be made much more valuable than at the present time by giving it close attention. Then we have an important market springing up across the Pacific, where we have hundreds of millions of people who are just wakening up to the value of our products. This trade needs to be carefully handled, and I think in a very short time we might look for great development," said Dr. Tolmie.

Another great need in Canada, Dr. Tolmie went on, is population, the best type of Britishers and northern Europeans, who would make successful settlers.

POPULATION NEED

"Population," he pointed out, "will reduce taxation and help us to pay the upkeep of our huge railway system."

The linking of Ontario and the Prairies by the settlement of areas lying between them will eliminate a serious gap in the present distribution of people, Dr. Tolmie said, adding that the land available for this purpose was some of the best in Canada.

"The new settlers should be encouraged in every way," he declared. "I wish to deprecate and condemn as strongly as possible the practice of calling our new settlers from foreign lands 'bohunks,' a term which cannot help them feel part of our nation."

BRITISH CONNECTION

Dr. Tolmie stressed the value of Canada's British connection and stated that Canadians, as part of the British Empire, had world-wide security which they would not enjoy under any other conditions.

"If you were in trouble in the present fracas in China, would you prefer to appeal for protection as a new-status Canadian or as a member of the British Empire?" the speaker asked. "I know of nothing that better illustrates the value of the British connection than that."

The speaker pointed out that the task of creating "A United Canada" was not by any means an impossible one. "At the present time we are in the moulding stage," he stated, "just about where the United States was sixty or seventy years ago. We can overcome our difficulties as they did. We need to know more of each other and our problems. We need to appreciate the wonderful country we live in. We require to do some sound thinking and go about the solution of our problems in a sane, orderly way, with a spirit of compromise mixed with a good portion of horse sense and a full realization that it is our problem as well as the other fellow's."

APPROPRIATE LINES

Dr. Tolmie closed his discourse by reciting the following appropriate lines of Mr. Wilson Macdonald, who is one of the most outstanding and promising Canadian poets:

"The East hath her genius and culture,
The West hath her vigor and brawn,
And one hath the splendor of noonday
And one hath the glory of dawn.
So, God, give Thy smile to the West-land
Wherever a true heart abides,
And God, give Thy smile to the East-land,
And blot out the line that divides."

Australian Band Displays Wide Range Of Artistic Talent

An amount of instrumental talent seldom gathered together will be heard by those who attend the concerts of the Australian National Band on its visit to Victoria on May 28. They will be brought here under the auspices of Mr. Lester Patrick and will play two concerts daily. The reputation preceding them from all parts of the world as a result of their recent world tour, is a story of musical achievement seldom obtained by any like organization. Their versatility is always the most notable feature wherever they are heard, but in addition to this the perfection in their rendition of the hundreds of selections ranging from grand overture down through the recognized musical category, including overtures, grand opera selections, suites and on to the semi-classics and right into jazz, comprises, to the minds of many critics, the most striking and marvelous achievement in musical annals.

THREE MEET DEATH IN RAILWAY WRECK

Engineer, Fireman and Mail Man Killed When Landslide Forces C.P.R. Train From Rails

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., May 16.—A temporary track has been constructed around the landslide which caused the derailment of Canadian Pacific passenger train No. 2 at Firehill, Ont., Sunday morning, in which three persons were killed and twenty-five injured, and traffic will be routed over this section until the wreckage is cleared and a new track laid.

The dead: Engineer John Hogg, Fort William, Ont; Fireman Harvey W. Sly, Schriber, Ont.; Mail Man W. L. Kirkpatrick, Fort William.

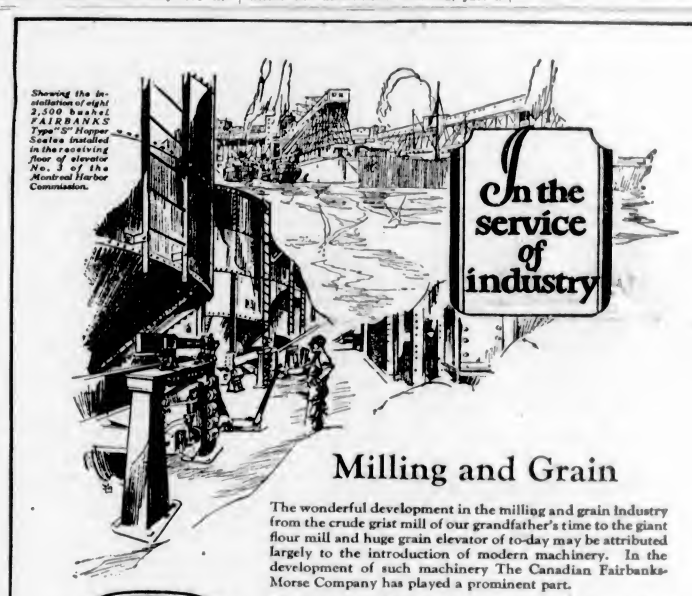

Physicians reported this morning that there was no change in the condition of the most seriously injured, William Loiki, Montreal, who is suffering from back and internal injuries, and Paul Newton, mail clerk, North Bay, with back injuries.

Officials stated that a careful inspection of the roadbed is maintained daily and that train No. 3, westbound, had passed over the section safely, where the derailment occurred, just a few hours previously. There was then no sign of anything wrong. The probability is that had train No. 2 been a few minutes earlier it would have passed safely, for it is believed that the slide plunged to the track just as the train rounded the curve at a speed of forty miles an hour. Constant rains had loosened tons of earth.

Milling and Grain

The wonderful development in the milling and grain industry from the crude grist mill of our grandfather's time to the giant flour mill and huge grain elevator of to-day may be attributed largely to the introduction of modern machinery. In the development of such machinery The Canadian Fairbanks-Morse Company has played a prominent part.

Weighing is a highly important operation in the handling of grain, and ever since Thaddeus Fairbanks invented the first scale a century ago this company has pioneered all new developments in scale design. Fairbanks Dump Scales, Hopper Scales and Automatic Bagging Scales have been developed specially for this industry, and our portable platform, wagon and auto truck scales are also widely used.

Fairbanks-Morse engines are also giving satisfactory service to this industry. They are used extensively on the prairies for driving grain elevators, and provide power for flour and feed mills throughout the country.

It is also a part of our service to select for this and all other branches of industry and to stock in our eleven branches those lines of machinery and supplies which will give the greatest satisfaction.

AUSTRALIA AND FILMS

Australia is about to follow the example of Great Britain and introduce film legislation with a view to encouraging Empire pictures. In this respect she will be following the lead given by the Imperial Conference. Australia has the reputation of being the best market in the world for pictures in proportion to population. In 1926 the attendances numbered 150,000,000, and within five years, from 1921 to 1926, the capital invested in picture theatres increased from £6,700,000 to £25,000,000. Of the pictures imported by Australia at present only ten per cent are British. Australia is a producer and is taking up the business all the time with greater energy. During the four months ending December last she exported 138 films which were distributed as follows: England, 67,949 feet; New Zealand, 24,489 feet; Singapore, 25,383 feet; the Dutch East Indies, 17,456 feet and the United States, 7,221 feet.

The Americans are beginning to realize that their monopoly in the Australian picture market is something that will be ended before long and already the distributing organizations of the United States are buying British-made pictures to satisfy Australian requirements. A discussion took place in the Australian Senate recently on the film problem, out of which the following salient points developed:

"(1) That Australia is determined to work for a higher percentage of Empire pictures and is ready to break down barriers which stand in the way of the desired objective. (2) Australians are confident that there is the capacity and the facilities can be created within the Empire to produce films of a better class and a higher entertainment value than the majority of the pictures which theatres now have no alternative but to accept. They are resolved that Australia will itself become a successful producer. (3) That it is by working in conjunction with other portions of the Empire that we can secure our share in the world's distribution as our only chance appears to be along the lines of Empire co-operation."

DICTIONARIES

Mr. Frank H. Vitzetelly, who is the editor of Funk and Wagnalls' New Standard Dictionary published in New York, has allowed his competitive jealously to get the better of his judgment. He has launched an attack on the Oxford English Dictionary, which, he says, since it was started sixty years ago, "is practically useless today." His argument is that the events which occurred between 1913 and 1919 were of such a nature as to strike at the very root of the language. He points to the facts that hundreds of new terms have been introduced, that the face of the map of the entire world has been remodelled, that empires have been "thrown into the junk-heap," that kingdoms were shattered and that it has been necessary to bring the dictionary up to date "to embrace all these things."

What Mr. Vitzetelly comfortably overlooks is that the meanings of words remain the same as they were in the time of Shakespeare. So far as the English language is concerned there has been very little change in the spelling of words for many generations. This may not be the case with Americanese, but it is English dictionaries that Mr. Vitzetelly is discussing and it is on that basis that his contentions must be met. After all a dictionary is simply a collection of words with their particular significations. Mr. Vitzetelly, if it were brought home to him, as it could be by opening his Standard Dictionary at random, would have to admit that his lexicon is simply an accumulation of the knowledge of the ages. He would have to give credit to the Greek lexicographer, Suidas, who lived in the eleventh century, to the Latin Thesaurus of Robert Stephens and the Greek Thesaurus of his son, Henry; above all to Johnson's Dictionary (published in 1775), as well as those of Dr. Richardson and Dr. Webster.

The groundwork of the New Standard Dictionary is exactly the same as that upon which the Oxford English Dictionary has been prepared, with this difference, that a great deal more research is associated with the English than with the American publication. By research we mean that the process of derivations is traced further, that the illustrations of meanings are more complete, and that altogether greater concentration and work has been expended on the Oxford than on the Standard Dictionary. The English publication does not contain American cant terms and their origins; in fact, it may not be a slang dictionary in any sense of the word. If to be up-to-date means that a dictionary should depart from its original purpose and pay attention to distortions of the language, then the Oxford publication is probably at fault and the New Standard Dictionary may be fully "modern." Mr. Vitzetelly says, "I cannot give a better illustration of the uselessness of a dictionary that by citing the great masterpiece that has been in course of compilation for nearly sixty years—the New English Dictionary on Historical Principles." In his own Standard Dictionary the definition of a "masterpiece" is—"A work showing the hand of a master; a superior production; capital performance; chef d'oeuvre"—so that Mr. Vitzetelly convicts himself out of his own mouth.

FRANCE'S PEASANT PROBLEM

Much concern is being felt in France, which has always been regarded as a typical agricultural country, at the news, for which The Paris Figaro is the authority, that the villagers are flocking to the towns in ever-increasing numbers. The problem is a familiar one in England and in many parts of the Empire—most noticeable, perhaps in Australia, where out of a total population of well under seven millions, no fewer than one million live in Melbourne or Sydney alone. In France it is something new. It is stated that the population of the rich district of the Manche, around the city of Cherbourg, which was 600,000 in 1851, has fallen to 450,000. In the region of Coutances over 54,000 inhabitants have been lost in fifty years, while in smaller towns the population has decreased by half, the most striking example being the picturesque Mont. St. Michel, which had nearly 2,200 inhabitants in the fifties and now has only 230.

France has her manufactures and these are of great value, but their value is nothing compared with the wealth that lies in the sturdy and tireless individuality of the French men and women who till the soil. If these are bent on leaving the countryside and flocking to the big cities, then indeed there may come a bad day for the Republic.

THE GOLDEN RULE

The inauguration of Golden Rule dinners as a method of spreading the gospel of education regarding humane relationships in society appears to have been inspired in a sense by an effort to direct world attention to sufferings everywhere which call for alleviation. It is an excellent idea and an excellent title. The dinner to be held at the Empress Hotel this evening will, we understand, be made the occasion for an appeal for sympathy for the thousands of homeless and starving children of the Near East whose plight has been a challenge to philanthropy everywhere for some years past. It is satisfactory to know that widespread public interest has been aroused in the dinner at which Mr. C. V. Vickery of New York will be the chief speaker. He is president of the International Golden Rule Association which has its headquarters at Geneva. His mission is one of good will. The application of the Golden Rule cannot be preached too often or with too great insistence for the benefit of preserving uppermost the finest, and ultimately the most far reaching, instinct of mankind.

In the United States the problem of increasing divorces is regarded as one calling for a solution by making divorces easier to obtain. The percentage of divorces for every 100 marriages in that country in 1870 was 3.5. In 1922 the average was 13.1 per cent. The estimate now is made that of every eight couples who get married during the present year one will end up in the divorce court. There are only two countries ahead of the United States in their divorce records and these are Russia and Japan, and in the former of these the marriage bond, under the Bolshevists, is regarded as a trivial thing.

Union labor is by no means unanimously opposed to the new Trade Union Bill now before the British Parliament. Mr. James Meadows, secretary to the South Wales Miners' Industrial Union, which has a hundred branches, says the miners of South Wales hope it will become law. His own opinion is: "I can see nothing to take offence at in the new bill and I believe hundreds of thousands of fel-

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

We saw something in the newspapers a few days ago that reminded us of the experience of Colonel Newcome. The Colonel, as nearly everybody save the infallible literary critics knows, is one of the finest characters in fiction. He was a retired officer of the Indian army. He had accumulated enough money to maintain himself in comfort (supplemented by his pension) for life. The Colonel's only son, a handsome and generous-hearted young fellow, had been reared and educated in London, and it was in the company of this son, Clive, that the simple-minded and open-handed old officer hoped to spend the remainder of his days.

* * *

The Colonel was proud of his boy; but that boy, like most young fellows who had not passed through the fire of affliction, was somewhat thoughtless and selfish. The father thought he would be welcome in the clubs and social circles frequented by the son. One night the Colonel attended a dinner given by one of the young men. Some of the stories told at that function shocked the old man, but he made excuses in his heart for the apparent grossness of the young men's discourse by the reflection that the manners and the customs of that day were different from the conventions of his own young days. Songs were sung, and the old Colonel thought it was his duty to contribute to the entertainment by singing a song too. So he sang one of the old-fashioned songs in the old-fashioned way, with "grace notes" liberally distributed through it.

* * *

Then the unfortunate old chap received the most terrible shock of his life. He looked around at the company and discovered that it was laughing at him. Worse than that, he discovered that his own son, the pride of his heart, was ashamed of him, actually was blushing for him. The Colonel then realized that he was an old fogy, or, in modern parlance, a "back-number." Much that was evil befel the poor old retired officer after he received that shock. He was swindled of his small fortune, settled his annuity upon his boy, and ended his days in an institution established and maintained by private benefaction.

* * *

Well, we received a shock quite as severe as the shock Colonel Newcome received when we read the something that apeared in the newspapers a few days ago. Before we read that news we were beginning to have some suspicions about our position in relation to the leading public questions of the day. We were beginning to think that as far as we were concerned the times were extremely out of joint. Now we are convinced that we must be an extremely old fogy, a very back number indeed. For at a meeting held in some place in England and composed exclusively of women, all either Liberal women or Labor women, after a somewhat warm discussion, a resolution was proposed on the subject of birth control—a resolution advocating, we believe, public lectures by medical men in support of the principle of birth control, with scientific instruction on the most effective manner of controlling births.

* * *

We proclaim our conviction that never again shall we be shocked at any resolution adopted by any meeting composed entirely of Liberal women and Labor women. We are prepared to read the news any day now that birth control has been added to the already many subjects taught in the schools. If such subjects are to be taught, there is no reason in the world that we know of why the teaching of them should not begin when the mind is in its most receptive state and when the conscience is in its most embryonic state. For the women voters are now in a majority in England, and we are told that before long there must be either a Labor Government or a Liberal Government in England. Consequently the principles advocated by the Labor women and the Liberal women must prevail. Furthermore, there are ministers of religion who publicly advocate the physical principle of birth control (though how they can reconcile the physical principle they advocate with the spiritual principles they profess we do not understand), and that is what convicts us of being a very ancient fogy and the farthest back of all back numbers.

* * *

For a long time we have been discussing the subject of the ascent of man. Now we are about to begin discussing the descent of woman. Woman was shorn of one of her glories when she cut off her hair. Then the shears were applied to the dress in which she was in the habit of draping her divine form. Motherhood is no longer considered a sacred privilege. It is a burden too grievous to be borne, and must be abolished—or at least, reduced to the point where it will not interfere with social obligations and legislative duties. What is the home as an institution compared with the dancing hall, the theatre or the legislative chamber as institutions? "The world do move." We alone are static.

Favorite Hymns and Their Writers

By REV. ARTHUR WALLACE

"GOD MOVES IN A MYSTERIOUS WAY"

The author of this hymn, William Cowper, was born at Great Berkhamstead, England, in 1731. His father was rector of the parish. His mother died when he was six, and that was the first of his sorrows. He was sent to Westminster School when he was ten, and his extremely sensitive disposition made him an object of ridicule and persecution from rougher lads there. Later he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1754, but seems to have made no serious attempt to practise. The qualities of assurance and quick decision, so necessary to success in the legal profession, were quite lacking in him.

Ever since his twentieth year Cowper had shown signs of brain disease, and throughout life was clouded with this affliction. He became a victim of melancholia, and suffered unutterable anguish. His condition became such that there was nothing left but to send him to an asylum. The sympathetic treatment he received there enabled him to recover, at least, to such an extent, that the delusions faded, and after a convalescence of two years he left the institution.

Cowper was fortunate in his friendships. Rev. Mr. Unwin and his family, who had previously shown him much kindness, gladly received him into their home and treated him with great tenderness. Soon afterwards he formed a friendship with Rev. John Newton, curate of a nearby parish. Different as the two men were in many respects, they had as yet much in common, and their friendship was probably the brightest spot in Cowper's sad life. Newton was himself a great hymn writer. He wrote such favorites as "How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds," "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken," and many others. He saw the necessity of keeping Cowper's mind occupied, and it was he who suggested that the two should compose a series of hymns together. A very famous collection, widely known as the "Olney Hymns," was the result. Of the collection of four hundred and fifteen hymns, Newton wrote three hundred and forty-nine, and Cowper sixty-six, but the quality of Cowper's work seems to have been better, for more of his hymns have become famous than those of Newton's.

Newton induced Cowper to do some parish work. He visited the sick, conducted week-day meetings and composed many hymns to be sung after the sermon. But once again the melancholy fits took possession of Cowper. It is generally agreed that the hymn "God Moves in a Mysterious Way" was written after Cowper had made an attempt at suicide. The hymn was written about the year 1773 and is one of his best known. Other hymns of his which are found in nearly all hymnals are: "There Is a Fountain Filled With Blood," Some Time a Light Surprises," O for a Closer Walk With God," "Hark, My Soul, It Is the Lord" and "Jesus, Where'er Thy People Meet." Cowper lived to be sixty-nine, and while his last days were clouded he did spend many years of quiet usefulness in the evening of his life.

"BUY HOME GOODS"

Sir,—At the Macdonald Club meeting recently Mr. C. H. Dickie, in addressing the audience, made the statement that there was, at present, a campaign to "Buy Home Goods."

With deference, I do not think the report in your columns quite does justice to the speaker. Mr. Dickie did not say that the slogan of the Conservative Party was to arbitrarily compel people to buy home made goods. What he did say, in effect, was "There is at present a campaign to induce people to buy home made goods. The slogan of the Conservative Party is 'Make people buy home made goods.'" He elaborated his remarks by saying that should the local producers and handlers of goods take advantage of the consumer by charging extortionate prices it would be up to the law makers of the country to enforce a fair price by legislation.

I might also point out that Mr. J. J. Maloney did not second the resolution to make Mrs. S. F. Tolmie a member of the Macdonald Club. Mr. E. Breffit was the seconder of the motion in question.

In fairness to Mr. Dickie and the Conservative Party I would ask for space in your valuable publication.

THE POUND BY-LAW

Sir,—Will you kindly allow us space in your valuable paper to reply to and to refute Mr. Pollock's letter re "pound law."

In the first place, it is said that in the proposed area "one can scarcely raise an umbrella." Now, Sir, we would like to say here that in 1926 Mr. R. Bray, of Langford, had some four acres of corn which stood from eight to twelve feet high; others also have acres of peas and beans, some six feet high. Furthermore, it is stated that the area "is not a grazing district, except for a very short period in Spring time." This is absolutely false. The proposed district comprises about twelve thousand acres, the greater part of which is unfenced and available pasture, on which between twelve and fifteen hundred sheep graze all year round. There are also one hundred and fifty head of cattle and goats in the district, and furthermore, there are hundreds of the said animals which need no other fodder during the year than that which they obtain by grazing on these lands.

If a pound or herd law is imposed on the farmers of Langford and Colwood who are making a livelihood by raising stock it would put them completely out of business, for their sheep and cattle bring in considerable revenue and they are depending upon these grazing lands for pasture. It seems strange that three or four prominent members of the Metchosin Farmers' Institute should be the chief agitators for this pound law which is against the interests of so many farmers. Have we not been given to understand that this very association is for the purpose of benefiting farmers? May we be permitted to ask these gentlemen how those engaged in mixed farming are to pay taxes if they are not allowed the land, which would otherwise be in waste, for pasture?

We are sure that the district would be less of a fire menace if the grass were cropped short before it becomes dry. As for Saanich, could the writer inform us which district has had the greater number of fires during the past years, the proposed pound law area or Saanich? True, "we still have Saanich on the map," but then only a part of Saanich is under a pound law.

It is suggested that we send a representative to London to advise the settler that this is not a stock district. We are unable to understand why this area should be closed after the Government has organized it as a sheep district. Would the writer belittle his district? How would be suggest that settlers make their living here? We think it probable that some of us would be forced to go out of business if all settlers erected glass houses.

Animals, a great menace to public safety? Sheep, a greater menace to life and limb than the motor car—poor, innocent sheep? I am sure these gentlemen greatly enjoy a roast of lamb and mint sauce even though they do object to these animals nibbling the wastes—roadside grass. We can say truthfully that there is no better mutton raised in British Columbia than that in Colwood and Langford.

We are told that "the pound law is self-sustained and cannot possibly raise taxes." How will the pound-keeper be paid? We ask you, Mr. Editor, are the stock-raisers going to purposely send their cattle out on the street to enable him to make a few dollars? If he is not successful in collecting his neighbors' stock, where will his salary come from?

If this pound law is put into effect it will mean that many settlers will be forced to sell all their stock, as they have not sufficient pasture of their own.

LOVE IS BLIND

Why within her heart
From the rest
Was I placed apart
As love's guest?
What she saw in me
Heaven knows!
Why it was that she Should suppose
I could play the part
As beseemed,
All her maiden heart
Ever dreamed!

Though love may be blind.
It is true;
P'raps Loves' eyes can find
That in you
Which from others' sight
Hidden lies,
Find it by the light
Of loves' eyes!
Sees within the clay
Something fine,
Where a diamond may
Dimly shine!

Saw that in you dwelt
Fast in sleep,
Hardly known or felt,
Buried deep;
Something, p'raps, that she
With love's eyes
Seemed to think could see
And would prize!
For whom Love invites
As her guest,
She with grace delights
To invest!

Love is blind, they say;
P'raps 'tis so;
Be it as it may,
Yes or no.
This at least is true
All the same—
What is good in you
Love will claim!
Yes, and find a way
To remould
Our poor common clay
Into gold!

The Rhyming Optimist

By Alice Michaelis

Some people think that wisdom spells a grim and dismal look, a face that sees no loveliness in Springtime's greenest nook, an eye that's ever seeking for some knowledge vast, profound, yet fails to glimpse the joyous truth that rings the whole world round. But you and I see clearer, dear, we know that wisdom lies in watching sudden sun and rain that fall from Maytime skies, in counting up the minted gold of lifted buttercups and sniffing clover blossoms where the bronze bee sups. For you and I have dipped a bit in tales of ancient lore, have gleaned a little of the wealth of learning's splendid store and, ah! how barren are the joys which sage and scholar prize beside the bliss of sun and song, the rapture of love's eyes.

HAS SECOND ESCAPE IN CAR COLLISION

Nine-Year-Old Girl Narrowly Misses Fatal Injury—Car Wrecked But Life Saved

Pat Murray, little nine-year-old daughter of Mrs. Peter Murray, had a narrow escape from death on Sunday morning when she ran in front of the motor car driven by Mr. H. D. Ridley just at a turn of the road near Craigflower Bridge. Her mother is the widow of the Rugby football player who was killed in an intercity match last Winter, and this is the second time that her little girl has been struck by a motor.

The Provincial police say that Mr. Ridley wrecked his car in his attempt to avoid the accident when the child suddenly appeared in the road, and the effect of his sudden swerve and skid when he put on the brakes was to overturn the machine.

Although badly out himself, Mr. Ridley was quickly at the child's side and did everything he could for her before Sergeant Robert Owens and Constable Richard E. Meadows arrived with Dr. J. M. Fowler, who attended them both. The little girl escaped with bruises and a bad shaking.

Brown: "I say, old man, are you fond of moving pictures?" Smith: "Rather" Brown: "That's splendid. We are removing tomorrow, so you might come in and lend us a hand."

Charles Mair's Tecumseh

By MARGARET LATIMER

Volume XIV of the twenty-five volume edition de luxe of Master Works of Canadian Authors, published by the Radisson Society of Canada, Limited, Toronto, has a special interest for Victoria, as it comprises the poems and memoirs of Dr. Charles Mair, a resident of this city for the past three years. Edited by John W. Garvin, B.A., the foreword by him in a few vivid lines throws off a picture of Dr. Mair and his personality which has verification in the strikingly life-like portrait of the aged author which adorns the opposite page. This particular volume of the collection has been keenly awaited by all serious Canadian readers, for Dr. Charles Mair is recognized throughout the Dominion as one of Canada's greatest poets. Moreover, he is a historian and has had not a little to do with the making of history, as the reading of his memoirs will disclose to those who do not already know.

As might be expected, the distinguished author's chiefest work, the dramatic poem, "Tecumseh," is singled out as the title of the collection, the various other writings being summarized on the back under the "etc., etc.", which is the book-makers' way of writing "and also ran." A portrait of Tecumseh is one of the few half-tone cuts which add interest to the pages, and some twenty pages of notes appended by way of explanation to the drama will be found of great value to students and teachers as well as the general reader.

NO ORDINARY INDIAN

Tecumseh was no ordinary Indian. The tribe from which he sprang, the reader is told in the notes by the author, was a branch of the Lenni Lenape or Delaware race. He was born in 1768 in one of the Ohio villages of the red men, west of the Alleghanies, became celebrated in early manhood for his exploits against white encroachers on the Ohio, and was engaged in almost every struggle of his people against the Americans down to the day of his death. His genius was first aroused to its fullest activity by the transfers known as the Treaties of Fort Wayne, whereby an extensive region on the Ohio was ceded to the whites. These treaties, made by Indians or village chiefs, resulted in the displacement of a number of tribes, whose chiefs alleged that they had been swindled. Tecumseh, red man though he was, had a fine intelligence and genuine statesmanship, and recognized that only in the union of the tribes could effective resistance be made to the encroachment of the whites. He visited almost every tribe from the Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes, and far west of the Mississippi. His sole ambition being the protection of his people, he joined General Brock at Amherstburg, Upper Canada, with a large force, and in the Summer of 1812 began that series of services to the British interest, "which," notes Dr. Mair, "has made his name a household word in Canada and endeared him to the Canadian heart."

SHAKESPEAREAN QUALITY

Dr. Mair has done more than any other historian to perpetuate the memory of this heroic Indian, whose resolute bravery and passionate love of his people are vividly interpreted in the spirited dignity of the author's lines. There is a Shakespearean quality to the drama, which sets forth, with an intimacy of detail which suggests a profound knowledge of history, the numerous prsonalities of the time, including General Brock, administrator of the Government of Upper Canada; General Harrison, Governor of Indiana Territory; Tecumseh's prophet brother, who played a great part, though a less disinterested one, in the great drama of Indian resistance to white man's domination.

Not only in this masterpiece, "Tecumseh," but throughout his poems and other writings, Dr. Mair reveals a rich familiarity with the country, topographical detail, climates, human types, the phases and moods of nature. Two classics of the kind are his essay on "The American Bison," read first time before the Royal Society of Canada in May, 1890, and published in the transactions of the Royal Society in the same year; and "Through the Mackenzie Basin," a narrative of the Athabasca and Peace River Treaty Expedition of 1899, of which Dr. Mair was a member in the capacity of English secretary of the Half-Breed Commission. Reading this one gets an extraordinary vivid idea of the country, its vastness, beauty, varied interest, hardships, and even its sounds and smells, mingled with the picture of the little group of men wending their way northward into remote wildernesses.

SPIRIT OF CHANGE

"But the spirit of change was brooding even here. The moose, the beaver, and the bear had for years been decreasing, and other fur-bearing animals were slowly but surely lessening with them. The natives, aware of this, were now alive to concurrent changes foreign to their experience. Recent events had awakened them to a sense of the value that the white man was beginning to place upon their country as a great storehouse of mineral and other wealth, enlivened otherwise by the sensible decrease of their once unfailing resources."

It is impossible to explore the entire contents of this interesting volume. There should be mentioned, of course, the collection of Canadian poems, which includes the well-known "Ballad for Brave Women," being the story of Laura Secord; "The Last Bison," written in 1890, and little foreseeing the great access of numbers which would necessitate the great periodic slaughters of today among the captive buffalo of Canada; "Cabot," "To a Captured Firefly," and others. A poem to the memory of Thomas D'Arcy McGee is one of Dr. Mair's finest, both in style and content, and shows as well as anything else in the collection the hereditary influences of which he is so admittedly proud. Something about these influences is set forth in the introduction by Robert Norwood, which takes the form of biographic comment.

MR. A. ROBERTS IS ACROSS DIVIDE

Pioneer of British Columbia Interior Dies in Victoria—Had Long Connection With District

Another British Columbia pioneer crossed the last divide on Saturday evening when Mr. Abraham Lovell Roberts, eighty-one years of age, passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Although a resident of Victoria only for the last five years, Mr. Roberts was well known here as a member of the family which gave its name to Roberts Bay, near Sidney, when members of it took up a homestead there. His brother, Mr. Sam Roberts, lived there for many years before his death.

Mr. Abraham Roberts was a miner who was well known in British Columbia camps. He was in the Cariboo rush, and after the excitements of Granite Creek and the Similkameen, put in many years in the hard rock mines of the Kootenays and the Slocan country, working as a tool sharpener and engineer.

He was equally well known in musical circles here, having a fine tenor voice. He took part in the annual concerts under the leadership of Mr. Hanby Jackson. He will be greatly missed by many child friends, with whom he was a great favorite. Among surviving relatives are Mr. Sam Roberts, of Sidney, and Mrs. J. S. Reid, of Royal Oak. Mr. Roberts was a member of the A. F. & A. M. and a Royal Arch Mason.

The B.C. Funeral Company will forward the remains to Sutton, Neb., for burial.

WORKER ON EARLY RAILROAD BUILDING DIES IN VICTORIA

Once considered one of the most expert locomotive mechanics in Western Canada, Mr. Robert Armstrong, a Victorian who played a constructive part in the railroad development of British Columbia, passed away at the St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday morning at the ripe age of seventy-six.

Born in Edinburgh, Mr. Armstrong came to Canada in 1882 and was engaged as a mechanic by the C.P.R. when the main line was being built between Winnipeg and Revelstoke. Later he was shop foreman for the company at Canmore, Field, Donald and at Revelstoke, and earned a great reputation for his knowledge of locomotives. Railwaymen from all parts of the country sought his advice.

In 1908 he set up in business for himself here as a machinist, at Kingston Street, under the name of Armstrong Bros.

Three sons survive him, Messrs. Robert and John W., of Victoria, and Dr. Thomas Armstrong, of Portland; also two daughters, Mrs. E. E. Boynton, of Seattle, and Mrs. T. D. Roberts, of Victoria. Three grandchildren are living in Victoria and two in Portland.

The funeral will be from the B.C. Funeral Chapel on Thursday at 3:15, and interment will be made at Ross Bay. Rev. Dr. W. L. Clay will officiate.

INQUIRY REOPENS AT NIAGARA FALLS

Mysterious Doings of Rocco Perri, Missing Witness, Again Enter Customs Investigation Evidence

NIAGARA FALLS, May 16—Alleged transactions of Rocco Perri, at present in parts unknown, found their way into the opening sittings of the Royal Customs Commission here.

Operations of the Taylor & Bate Brewery, of St. Catharines, were under review during the afternoon, and C. R. Calder, counsel for the commission, sought to ascertain from witnesses whether Perri had bought beer from this organization under an assumed name. On this point he addressed a number of questions to William T. Whetlings, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., a former sales manager for Taylor & Bate and still "indirectly" associated with their export business to the United States.

Whetlings said he had not met Perri recently and he did not know whether Perri had dealt with the Taylor & Bate Brewery.

That he had given instructions to the manager of the brewery to permit no more shipments of beer to purchasers who came to the brewery was the statement of Edward Sandell, who recently became president of Taylor & Bate. As he was anxious to avoid any trouble with the Provincial Government, he had given orders to discontinue all except genuine shipments which were sure to leave the province, he said.

From J. F. Mallon, manager of Taylor & Bate, the commission learned that orders for strong beer were received by mail from the United States and executed at the brewery. After the goods were delivered, either at the brewery or at the point where they were loaded into boats, the brewery did not attempt to follow them farther.

HORSE STABLE IS DISPUTED ISSUE

Application for Heywood Avenue Permit Is Still Unsettled

An application from Mr. E. A. Scott for permission to erect a stable on Heywood Avenue, near Beacon Hill Park, which has been before the City Council for some time and has been held over owing to objections being raised against it, suffered another check last night when it came up on a report in favor of its being granted which came from the parks and boulevards committee.

The Mayor said he did not favor the erection of the building there. There would be few who would like to have a horse stable alongside them. There would follow this, he felt, a demand that the city provide all kinds of bridle paths in the park so that riders might take advantage of the opportunity to ride there.

Alderman Dewar pointed to the fact that there was a good track at the Willows for riders who wished to learn. He was of the opinion that the utilization of Beacon Hill Park for the purpose was that the riders might be seen.

Alderman Clearihue did not believe that riders would be content to go to the Willows to ride. If one were wanting to drive an automobile for pleasure he would not go and race around the Willows track. The same objection could well be raised against riding.

The discussion waxed strong until finally the legal right of the city to grant the request was raised, when Alderman Harvey moved that the matter be laid over in order that this aspect of the situation could be considered.

Alderman Woodward moved to eliminate the section from the report. On a vote being taken both motions were declared lost, and then ensued a dispute as to just how the votes were cast. The question of the stable permit was allowed to remain unsettled.

League of Nations Study Of Farm Credits Urged

GENEVA, May 16.—A resolution requesting the League of Nations to examine into the possibility of international collaboration in the matter of credits for farmers was adopted today by the agricultural commission of the International Economic Conference.

The commission is of the opinion that the best form of credit institution in individual countries is a co-operative credits society operating on resources which the society itself has been able to procure "without the assistance of the public authorities."

JUNIOR CHAMBER IS ADDING TO NUMBERS

Secretary Reports on Salt Spring Visit —Will Aid Jubilee Celebration Sports Programme

Last night the board of directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce added two more members to the organization when they accepted applications from Hugh R. Allan and John H. Findlay. The organization is growing rapidly in numbers, a good start already having been made on the second hundred members.

A suggestion was received that an endeavor be made to secure the Olympic Games for Victoria in 1936. This matter, however, cannot be pursued owing to arrangements apparently having been made for the games to be staged in California that year.

SUSPEND TILL FALL

At the next general meeting on June 2 the directors will make a recommendation that no further general meetings be held until October, on account of the natural outdoor attractions in the Summer months.

The secretary, Mr. Harold Palmer, reported upon his recent visit to Salt Spring Island, intimating strongly that the citizens of Salt Spring Island were generally in support of establishing an auto ferry service between that island and the Saanich Peninsula. He stated that following his investigations he felt convinced that such a service would be well patronized and would prove to be remunerative to any concern enterprising enough to give the project a fair trial. The board agreed that its activities in this connection should be continued.

SPORTS PROGRAMME

Under the chairmanship of Mr. W. N. Kennedy, the Junior Chamber will do everything possible to insure the success of the sports programme for the Diamond Jubilee celebration. All organizations interested in the development of amateur sport will be invited to send representatives to a general meeting which is being held in the headquarters of the celebration committee on Friday next, at 7:45 p.m.

Chief Michael Cooper, of the Songhees tribe, has expressed his willingness to arrange for the participation of five tribes in Indian war canoe races in connection with the proposed regatta at the Gorge. It is further proposed to invite four-oared crews, doubles and singles from the Vancouver Rowing Club, also a crew from Brentwood College to race against the J.B.A.A.

LOGGING DEMONSTRATION

A unique suggestion which has been advanced is that the British Columbia Loggers' Association be asked to take part by featuring log-rolling, logging rope splicing, and an exhibition of topping a spar tree by a high rigger, the latter to be demonstrated with the aid of a powerful searchlight at night.

Goodwill Day—The Provincial Government has proclaimed Wednesday of this week as International Goodwill Day. Harris, vocalist; Harry Browne, banjoist; Professor Hagie, accordion soloist, and Mrs. J. Davies, pianist. The Misses Margaret Foyer and Doris Jewell, variety dancers, will give numbers. Mrs. E. Holt will be at the piano.

Winners in Contest—According to an announcement made yesterday the following are winners in the recent profit-sharing competition staged by the Vancouver Island Milk Producers' Association and if these people will call at the office of the association on North Park Street next Thursday at 3 o'clock they will receive prizes as follows: 1, Mrs. A. Walden, 1212 June Street; 2, Maude Land, 1417 Burton Avenue; 3, Nora McCulloch, 342 Michigan Street; 4, Marjorie Cheer, Bellevue Court Apartments; 5, M. L. Osborne, Cochran, Alberta; 6, R. LEGAL ADVICE WILL BE TAKEN BY CITY

Timber Held on Goldstream Watershed Subject of Dispute With Contractors

On the report of the water committee of the City Council authority has been granted to consult the legal department of the city with respect to the proper steps to be taken to enforce the terms of the contract of June 10, 1925, between the Esquimalt Waterworks Company and Fairweather and Gierin, with respect to the timber on the Goldstream watershed.

In this connection Alderman Woodward, speaking for the committee, said that there did not seem to be very much chance of a settlement without legal action. The city's claim on the basis of a flat charge for the estimated timber on the watershed will be about $360,000. The firm, however, is not agreeable to this and proposes another line of settlement. He said he felt that it was time to do something in the way of forcing the hand of the firm.

DISASTER MAY STIFFEN PRICES

EFFECT OF MISSISSIPPI FLOODS WILL LOWER HARDWOOD AND SOUTHERN PINE FIGURES

Northwest Fir Will Be in Demand for Several Months, It Is Expected

Lumber shipments may be greatly stimulated from the Pacific Northwest, as the result of the situation in the Mississippi Valley, which is affecting the hardwood and southern pine areas.

The hardwood mills appear to have suffered most, and the prices have already advanced on most grades. Large quantities of stocks have been carried away in the floods, and according to a message received here by telegram from Memphis, Tenn., production of hardwoods has been cut 7,000,000 feet daily by the flood effects, while southern pine is slightly less influenced by the catastrophe.

It is expected that it will take from two to three months to recondition the mills in the states where flood conditions prevail.

Mr. W. D. Connor, president of the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company, who is visiting here now, and knows the southern mills thoroughly, anticipates that the dislocation of trade due to the disaster will be very extensive, but in the absence of adequate data, he is cautious in forecasting the effect which the floods will have on demands from the northwest, although he believes there will be a definite stiffening of demand, as a consequence, in all lines of fir.

FLOOD MENACES MORE PARISHES

NEW THREAT RISES AS MISSISSIPPI ROLLS WAY TO GULF

Hundreds Reported Clinging to House Tops in District West of Atchafalaya River

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 16.—A new threat had arisen tonight as the Mississippi flood rolled down upon the five parishes in its path through the Atchafalaya Valley to the Gulf of Mexico.

While hundreds of persons were reported clinging precariously to housetops and treetops in the water-ridden parishes west of the Atchafalaya, engineers received the information that levees along the east bank of the Atchafalaya were caving before the tremendous pressure exerted by the stream.

At Woodise, ten miles south of the junction of the Old and Atchafalaya rivers, approximately 140 miles northwest of New Orleans on the opposite side of the Mississippi, the embankments were said to be falling and efforts were being made to get levee machines and pile drivers to the scenes. A break there would loose the waters into Pointe Coupe and the other parishes between the Atchafalaya and the west bank of the Mississippi.

A countryman was visiting the town and happened to see a lot of young fellows outside a rifle range. So he went up to the attendant and procured a rifle.

"What be I do with this?" he asked.

"Oh," said the attendant, "if you hit the bull's eye you can have your money back."

The countryman grinned and stood for several minutes fingering the rifle. The attendant watched him for some time, and then said:

"What are you waiting for?"

"Waiting?" said the yokel. "I be waiting for the bull. Wheer is it?"

City Hall Activities in Brief

It was intimated by Ald. Woodward last evening at the City Council that the rate to be fixed for water that was used for irrigation purposes would probably be the same this year as it was last season. The committee will meet today, and will go into this aspect of the situation.

On the motion of Ald. Harvey it was decided last evening to make an attempt at trying to see if something could not be done to have the excursion from the city to Seattle on May 24 cancelled. The matter will be taken up with those in charge of the event.

A by-law was introduced into the Council last evening for the purpose of complying with the arrangements entered into for the opening of a street through the property of the late Dr. J. S. Helmcken. The terms of the agreement had not been legally complied with by the city, and this is being authorized and carried into effect now.

The report of Major M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett, the city land commissioner, covering his trip to California, was presented to the City Council last evening, coming through the lands committee. He gave the information that, from what he had been able to gather in Southern California, he was of the opinion that a preliminary campaign in the line of advertising city lots might with advantage be made there. He was of the opinion that there would be an opening for the sale of property in the south.

Mr. L. Nicholls has been appointed playground supervisor at the Victoria West Park for the months of July and August.

Permission has been granted to the 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment to go into camp at Beacon Hill Park on July 1, 2 and 3. The site will be selected by the parks superintendent.

The Beacon Hill Nursery will be open to the public on Sundays during June and July, from 2 p.m. till 5 p.m.

Chief of Police Fry is urging a consolidation of the city by-laws. The chief said it was difficult to keep in touch with the city regulations, as there had been no consolidation of them since 1901. The police commissioners had agreed to the application. The matter will be referred to the city solicitor.

The request in the cases of Rex vs. E. A. Morris and Rex vs. J. L. Harris for a reduction in the fines imposed for selling chocolates containing liquor was referred to the finance committee. It was stated the Attorney-General had acted in similar prosecutions in Vancouver.

A grant of $1,700 was made to the Y.M.C.A. on condition that the tax arrears on the building be paid at once. It was explained that $1800 was due. A vote of $200 was made to the Salvation Army social work.

The health of the city, as revealed by the report of the health officer, is in a very satisfactory shape. The marriage rate was shown to have increased.

A warning was given by the Council to one milk vendor that if further complaints were received about the quality of his milk his licence would be revoked. The vendor explained that when the cream rose to the surface the lower part of the can contained milk of poorer quality.

The mayor and aldermen have been invited to attend the graduating exercises of the Jubilee Hospital nursing staff on May 26 at eight o'clock. The invitation was accepted.

The residents of Sayward Avenue will be informed that the city will pay half the cost of a five-foot concrete sidewalk on both sides of that street. The total cost is estimated at $1,320. Seventeen houses are affected.

On recommendation of the public works committee, two trucks will be bought for the department. One will be a two and a half-ton truck from the Leyland Motors, Ltd., at a price of $4,205 after making allowance for the old truck. The other purchase will be a one-ton truck from Cameron Motor Company at a price of $1,755 after making allowance for an old truck.

On the recommendation of the water committee the Council accepted the tender of Leith, Murray & Co., of Vancouver, for waterworks material. This tender was the lowest.

A soldier on a troopship had witnessed for the first time a burial at sea. Owing to the absence of the conventional "round shot," some coal in a sack was placed at the dead man's feet.

The soldier remarked, "Lumme, I've seen a few beggars shuffle off since this war started, but that's the first one I've seen takin' his own fuel with him!"

Art School Exhibition Shows Promising Work

Talent of Unusual Character Discovered in Display of Work by Students of Mrs. Uhthoff—Thorough Knowledge Shown by Instructor

The numerous people who yesterday attended the private view at the Yates Street Arcade (formerly Gordon's, Ltd.) of Mrs. Uhthoff's art school exhibition found before they had gone very far that the usual mental reservations carried on such occasions were quite unnecessary. This work is far above the general standard of art students' displays, and in its individual as well as group collection, contains a fresh interest which holds the visitors' attention from the moment he enters the gallery until he has completed the full round of the four well-filled walls and adjoining annex. The public will have ample opportunity during the remainder of the week to see this singularly interesting exhibition, any time between 10 a.m. and 10 p.m.

In the first place, the collection reveals an amazing versatility on the part of the instructor, Mrs. Uhthoff. There is hardly any branch of art which is not represented, from the simpler line drawing of still life in crayon to the more highly-developed portrait and landscape work in pastels, watercolor and oils. And in addition to this there are the various phases of commercial art as applied to book illustrating, poster manufacture, stencil making, wallpaper design, decoration of silks and other phases of applied art. It is the biggest individual art school display probably ever shown here.

Almost any subject which comes within the range of artistic application is considered legitimate study. For example, one group of students during the Winter took up the study of Celtic art in order that they might apply it to design; another group went exhaustively into the subject of galleys, Egyptian, Grecian, Phoenician, and even later, all with the idea of making decorative pictures; still another group rehearsed the subject of dress down the ages, so that in their poster making and book illustrations their work would not suffer from the frequently encountered anachronisms. This is treating art seriously.

There is a pleasing absence of the cramped style which not infrequently marks and mars the output of art schools. Mrs. Uhthoff obviously does not try to impose her own style on her students, but rather seeks to develop the individual talent and expression of each pupil along legitimate lines. From the exhibition standpoint this adds vastly to the interest. The subjects treated by the groups of students may be identical, but there is infinite variety in the expression.

GAINING CONFIDENCE

The visitor should start his tour of the exhibition by peeping at the little collection by the very youngest children. Incidentally this gives one a clue to Mrs. Uhthoff's basic principles; she makes her pupils work from the model; no copying from drawings is allowed. Bunnies, parrots, roosters, guinea-pigs, pigeons, pet canaries—these are some of the subjects taken up by the small tots. The same subjects are dealt with by some of the older students. It is interesting to follow the development betrayed in a growing sureness and confidence of line. Even in the most childish scratchings one can sometimes detect an inherited or original talent which can be traced, a few months later, in a much finer expression. Among the more skilled drawings here are Margaret Izard's, P. Fairbairn's and Angela Davis'.

The life-class work is interesting. It starts generally with the head, and after this there come "snaphot" drawing anatomized to show the bony framework, and from this the student works up to the complete outline of the living model, showing the main lines of the body and limbs in action. Afterwards comes the living model posed for ten minutes; or, occasionally, a head for portrait study. The various steps of development from this point are also shown; blocking in, massing of light and shade, the study of bony detail and of the principal muscles of the face and neck, then the constructive lines of the head in different positions, front, three-quarter, etc. Students spend several periods on detail of eyes, nose, ear and mouth as a finishing study before proceeding to careful portraiture. The whole figure is studied in the same way. Studies of the hand and foot, made from the cast, give some idea of the time that is spent in preparing for advanced portraiture from the life. A few heads, painted in oils, done by the older pupils, show the effects of these long months of preparatory work.

From the life-class pupils progress to the study of illustration and cartoon.

COMMERCIAL ART

Commercial art occupies a vastly important place today, and recognizing this Mrs. Uhthoff is giving her school excellent grounding. One of the most interesting technical lessons is in the use of the color-chart, showing the colors and color values which are related to the various values in pure light and shadow. The most striking of a score of remarkably striking posters is one by Phoebe Fuller, which is worked up entirely on this "color translation" principle. Nothing put out by the clever designers of modern travel catalogue is more alluring as advertisement of India or Burma than this blazing, goregously opulent poster of mahout-driven elephants under swaying colored parasols.

One group of posters was created round the slogan "Follow the birds to Victoria," for which Beth Grimison, Phoebe Fuller, Daphne Gillespie, E. Fordyce and Evangeline Pease have drawn enticing panels. Another set of posters advertises a masquerade ball. Phoebe Fuller here again submitting an outstandingly fine poster distinguished by imagination and fine workmanship and design. She has also done a strikingly clever book-cover design for Sienkewicz's "Quo Vadis." Several posters find the theme in "Victoria, the Garden City," practically all using the Parliament Buildings in one form or another. Helen Streatfeild shows a great sense of line at all times; a design by her for a foreign legion poster should be noted. Peggy Hodgins' "layout," coloring and drawing combine to make of her design for a fan a very charming thing in pale apple-green, pale lemon and apple-blossom pink. Romance and literary imagination are joined with strong technique in Phoebe Fuller's black and white illustration for her sister's book, "Wanda and Ronzelle." Cynthia Clayton's and Beth Grimison's book illustrations are delightful also. Another display card is filled with colorful drawings by Marguerite Sanderson, suggested illustrations for the History of Pantomime. There is in the entrance hall another card filled entirely with competitive designs for fruit labels. Two other students' work should certainly receive special notice. Olive Acton's, which ranges through the whole field of oil and pastel work into the commercial art group, the latter including a strikingly decorative wallpaper design employing a Celtic motif, and a floral motif applied to a black Spanish shawl and a black evening frock of Vogue design; and Amy Adamson's very talented sketches of birds, rabbits and wild flowers.

In the exhibition will be found a copy of Olive Acton's design, chosen for the casket presented to Lord Willingdon when he was given the freedom of the city. Beside this drawing, which won the prize offered, hangs Beth Grimison's design for the scroll which was enclosed in the casket. Both young artists employed the Indian theme. Nearby is a group of work from Mrs. Uhthoff's pupils at St. Margaret's School.

"Miss Canada" Is Routed South to Further Triumphs

Miss Madeleine Woodman, who won in succession the "Miss Victoria" and "Miss Canada" titles, is now on her way to Hollywood and Galveston, in the latter city to represent Canada at the International Pageant of Pulchritude. She had a great reception at Vancouver when she received her title, and also at the railway station on her departure.

Empire Shopping Week Canvass Progresses

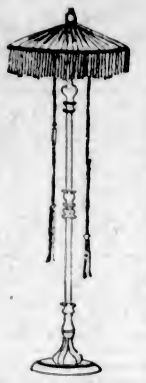

A number of local wholesale firms have consented to give their co-operation in the Empire Shopping Week movement, which is to be celebrated here next week for the second year. Members of the local committee canvassed several of the wholesale concerns during the last few days, and found them readily acquiescent. Members of the I.O.D.E. have undertaken to make a personal canvass during the present week of the leading retail stores and shops of the city asking them for their co-operation and help by dressing their windows for the coming week with Empire-made goods.

The movement is receiving even more general support throughout the Province than last year. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor some days ago sent a letter to the mayors of towns throughout British Columbia. The local committee called on Mr. H. J. Pendray and Mr. S. J. Drake, of the B.C. Products Bureau, and these gentlemen are taking the proposal up with the B.C. Products Bureau in Vancouver, as it is felt that one campaign assists the other.

Within the next few days the anxiously-awaited Empire Shopping posters are expected. Immediately on arrival these will be posted to Vancouver, New Westminster and Nanaimo, after a sufficient number for local use are set aside.

The success of the Empire Shopping Week movement depends, however, on the buying public, and the committee's final appeal, therefore, is to the shopper, who is asked to request Empire goods throughout the week.

LONDON, May 16.—Seventy-five per cent of the English farmers are insolvent, according to an unnamed correspondent who has been assisting The Daily Mail's inquiry into the present condition of agriculture in England. The cost of production is declared to be out of all proportion to the prices obtained for produce.

From Huntly, Aberdeenshire, The Mail prints the statement:

"The Conservative Party have, up to now, been looked to as the champions of rural areas, but should another party come along with a feasible agricultural policy they will collect the agricultural vote to a man."

Health and Diet Advice

CURING COLDS BY FASTING

If you have been eating too much this Winter, become enervated and finally caught a cold, it will be a good excuse for you to try the fasting cure which I have been telling you so much about.

You, doubtless, have had other dozens of different kinds of symptoms and ailments which I have been explaining to you can be cured by fasting. So, if you do not have a cold at the present time, the treatment which I am going to suggest for you would be beneficial in getting rid of your other troubles, and, if a cold is already starting, it is imperative that you follow these instructions. If you do not use these suggestions now, paste this article in your scrap book for future reference.

At the start of a cold there is often the symptom of sneezing before any mucus discharge starts. The sneezing is caused by irritation of dust or bacteria which has "caught" on the mucous membrane. You can sometimes get rid of this irritation by lying on your back and filling both nostrils with plain white vaseline, then drawing the vaseline up into your nose, so that it finally comes out through the mouth. This will coat all of the membrane lining the nose with the sticky vaseline and prevent the spreading of infection. If, after using this precaution, the mucus begins to flow in large quantities it is then always wise to stop the intake of food. Drink only plain water with the addition of lemon or orange juice.

An excellent treatment which you can use at this time is to drink the liquid from steeping whole grapefruit in boiling hot water. Prepare this as follows: Cut the grapefruit in small pieces, skin and all, and pour over each grapefruit a quart of boiling-hot water. Allow this to stand in an enamelled pan or glass jar. After standing for at least thirty minutes, begin to drink the liquid—taking from four to eight ounces every one-half hour. This liquid contains the acid of the grapefruit and also a large amount of organic quinine which is extracted from the skin of the grapefruit. This has a similar effect to the inorganic quinine which you have often taken in the form of tablets but with no bad effects. Take a drink of water every one-half hour, either plain or with lemon, orange or the steeped grapefruit juice. Continue this for several days until the cold is entirely eliminated. During this time you should take two enemas daily, using plain warm water, and use hot sponge baths at least twice daily.

The fasting must be continued as long as any fever exists, or if there is much mucus in the nose or throat. If the temperature becomes over 100 degrees, get between woolen blankets and take a good sweat once or twice a day. It is a good plan to be as quiet as possible while under this treatment to cure the cold. You will actually be in much better health afterwards if you take the fasting treatment for your cold, as the body will be cleansed of many accumulated toxins which have been burdening your body for a long time.

If you are well, correct your habits of eating and exercising and working so that you do not again develop the toxemia and enervation upon which colds and every other disorder is built.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

A delightfully youthful dance frock is shown above, made entirely of batiste, applied in narrow ruffles.

The square neckline is a new note of the season, smart for sports wear and evening alike. The only touches of color appear in the pale blue grosgrain ribbon girdle with pink roses.

This frock would also be lovely in any pastel organdie, the French nude being suggested as particularly new and smart.

RELIEF OFFICIAL TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Mr. C. V. Vickrey Will Make Address at Golden Rule Dinner at Empress

Mr. C. V. Vickrey, of New York, general secretary of Near East Relief and president of the International Golden Rule Association, arrived in Victoria this morning to deliver an address on "An Adventure in International Friendship" at the Golden Rule dinner at the Empress Hotel, at 6:15 o'clock tonight. Mr. Vickrey was accompanied by his wife, and Rev. C. C. Owen, of Vancouver. While in Victoria he will be the guest of Mrs. Vickrey's mother, Mrs. D. Spencer.

Mr. Vickrey is founder of the Golden Rule dinner idea, which will be exemplified for the first time in a public way in Victoria tonight. Since its beginning at Geneva four years ago, when Paul Hymans, president of the Council of the League of Nations, presided over the first dinner, the idea has spread until it was observed in more than fifty countries last year.

"Our committee expresses the most earnest hope that our friends who have not yet made reservations will do so early this morning," states Rev. W. Leslie Clay, acting chairman of the Victoria committee. "We are also exceedingly desirous of having the dinner begin sharp at 6:15 o'clock, that we may have unhurried enjoyment of a varied and interesting programme, during which Sir Richard Lake will preside. Reservations have already been received almost to the capacity of the dining-room."

Mr. Vickrey leaves on Wednesday for Seattle, Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco. From the latter place he and Mrs. Vickrey will sail on the 28th for Oriental ports and during a journey covering more than four months Mr. Vikrey will study the underprivileged children of different nations.

Kumtuks Preparing To Entertain Guests From Nearby Towns

The Kumtuks Club, in session last evening at Alexandra Club, the president, Miss Cameron, in the chair, discussed plans for the banquet to be given on Saturday, May 28, to the visiting clubwomen who are annually at this time the guests of the local business women's organization. Invitations already have been sent to Vancouver, Bellingham, Seattle, and Tacoma business women's clubs, and from Vancouver alone between twenty-five and thirty guests are expected.

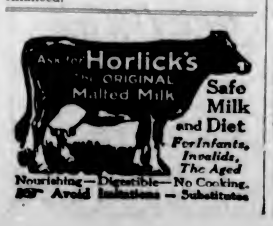

The dinner will be held this year at the Empress Hotel, and will be followed by the usual informal programme, a rehearsal for which will be held at the home of Miss Wigley, 929 Burdett Avenue, on Thursday night. The new club songs will be run through on this occasion.

The entertainment for Sunday, May 29, will comprise a basket picnic at Mount Douglas Park at which the visiting business women will be the guests.

At last evening's meeting an invitation was read from the Washington State convention to be held in Longview on May 19 and 20. The Kumtuks will send one, possibly two delegates to this.

NATIONAL EXECUTIVE IN MONTHLY MEETING

I.O.D.E. Meets in Toronto—Annual Gathering to Be Held in Winnipeg on June 6

The monthly meeting of the national executive committee of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, was held at headquarters, 238 Bloor Street East, Toronto, on Wednesday, May 4. In the absence of Miss R. M. Church, the national president, the second vice-president, Mrs. W. R. Jackson, occupied the chair. Others present were: Mrs. F. B. Fetherstonhaugh, Mrs. H. F. Burkholder (Hamilton), Mrs. J. U. Power, Mrs. J. H. Spence, Mrs. W. H. Barker, Mrs. A. H. Malcolmson, Mrs. M. J. Mulock (St. Catharines), Mrs. Oscar Main (Hamilton), Mrs. A. E. Miller, Mrs. F. J. Greenway (London), Mrs. Graham Thompson, Mrs. P. E. Doolittle, Mrs. W. Hamilton Burns and Mrs. A. F. Rutter.

Deepest regret was expressed at the recent death of Mrs. O. L. Boynton, of Vancouver. For many years Mrs. Boynton was an outstanding worker in the order and held important offices, among them those of national councillor and regent of the Municipal Chapter of Vancouver.

The executive was proud to extend to Miss Mazo de la Roche its heartiest congratulations on her outstanding literary achievement, by which she won the $10,000 prize offered by The Atlantic Monthly.

The convener for work in India, Mrs. F. J. Greenway, read an interesting letter from a lady in Bombay, who asked for information regarding the method of procedure in forming chapters of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

The national organizing secretary, Mrs. R. H. Brotherhood, reported that six new chapters had been formed—one in British Columbia, one in Manitoba, one in Quebec and three in Ontario.

The next regular meeting of the executive committee will be held at Winnipeg preceding the annual meeting, which opens on June 6 in that city.

JACK ADAMS WILL MANAGE DETROIT

FORMER VANCOUVER HOCKEY STAR NAMED TO HEAD OLD VICTORIA TEAM

Reports Say Newsy Lalonde Will Not Guide New York Americans Again

MONTREAL, May 16.—Jack Adams, last year with the Ottawa Senators in the National Hockey League, has been appointed manager of the Detroit team in the major pro hockey circuit and has already started his activities in the new role. While attending the meeting of the league here Saturday, he arranged a trade with the Toronto Maple Leafs whereby Toronto will get Art Duncan, former Detroit playing manager, in exchange for Bill Brydge, the defence man who joined Toronto last year, jumping from the Port Arthur amateurs.

BOSTON, May 16.—Charles F. Adams, Boston business man and owner of the Boston Bruins, National Hockey League club, has been elected vice-president of the Braves of Boston, succeeding Albert H. Powell, whose holdings he has purchased.

MONTREAL, May 16.—The Montreal Gazette carries the following in its sports columns today:

"Newsy Lalonde will not be the manager of the New York Americans next season, according to reliable information gleaned at the National Hockey League meeting here Saturday. Lalonde had difficulties in handling the Americans last season.

"Just who will succeed Lalonde has not been decided. There has been frequent mention of Shorty Green."

Canadian Wrestler May Meet Australian for Title

MELBOURNE, May 16.—A world's championship light-heavyweight wrestling match between Billy Edwards, Canadian, and Sam Clapham, of Yorkshire, England, may be staged in Melbourne. Edwards has won three successive matches in the stadium here, defeating Meckes, the Australian; Karasick, Russian, and Voken, American.

Clapham, the world's champion, arrived today to fulfill a contract to wrestle in six matches, including two championship events. The season has just opened here and crowds are regularly turned away, despite the fact that the wrestling stadium accommodates ten thousand persons.

Edwards appears to be Clapham's logical contender.

Juniors Will Play For Tennis Titles During June 6-11

AT a meeting of the executive of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club held last night, it was decided to hold the British Columbia junior lawn tennis championships during the week of June 6-11. The matches will be played at the Victoria Tennis Club and a large entry is expected.

Secretary F. A. Jackson announced last night that the opening of the grass courts would depend entirely upon weather conditions. It is hoped that some of the courts will be ready for use by Saturday and additional ones by May 24.

JACK SAVIDENT WINS MEDAL AT UPLANDS CLUB

Veteran Member and Ex-Champion Turns in Score of 151 to Head Largest Field in History of Club

H. BRYNJOLFSON HAS TWO GOOD ROUNDS

Youngster Is One Stroke Behind Medalist — Play of Junior Members Features Qualifying Rounds

Big Jack Savident, a veteran of many a tournament, won the medal in the qualifying rounds of the Uplands Golf Club championship played Sunday, when he turned in a score of 151 for the thirty-six holes, one stroke better than young Harold Brynjolfson, who was second with 152. Brynjolfson led the field in the morning with a 74, but started badly in the afternoon and dropped four strokes in the first three holes to finish with a 78. Savident was three worse than his youthful runner-up at the end of the first eighteen, but came through with a 74 in the afternoon to take the honors.

The play of the younger members of the club was one of the outstanding features of the qualifying rounds. In the first twenty low scores turned in, five were from junior members, Harold and C. Brynjolfson, Bob Morrison, Allan Craig, Jr., and H. G. McKenzie. Jack Savident, Harold Brynjolfson and Bob Morrison were tied for the best eighteen, each having 74's.

CRAIG SLIPS IN AFTERNOON

Allan Craig was runner-up to Brynjolfson for the best score of the first eighteen with a card of 75. In the afternoon, however, he slipped badly and came in with an 87 for a total of 162. Bob Morrison, one of the favorites for the medal, after his brilliant 71 of a week ago, found the going hard in the morning and turned in a score of 81. In the afternoon he settled down and finished with a 74, to place him in fifth place with General Tuxford, a new member of the club.

The scores of some of the ex-champions and runners-up of the club were generally good. A. V. Price had a 79 and 75 to put in third place with Al Falk, who had a 79 and 75. Percy Edmonds, the defending champion, was placed in seventh place with cards of 79 and 78, for a total of 157. Bill Leith, after having an 85 for the first round, turned in a 78 in the afternoon, to finish in thirteenth place with Bob Challoner, who had an 81 and 82. A. C. Falk turned in a 35, coming home in the last eighteen, for the best nine holes of the day. Frank Jeffrey, one of the younger members, turned in a 78 and 83, for a total of 161.

Ninety-six players, the largest number in the history of the club, teed off in the qualifying rounds. Weather conditions were ideal and the qualifying scores were the lowest of any championship held at Uplands.

The first and second rounds will be played next Sunday.

The following are the scores.—

Heavyweight Champ to Try Hand With Rod

THEY all come to Montreal sooner or later and more often, sooner. Here is Gene Tunney, who took Jack Dempsey's crown last year and he is flanked by W. O. McGeehan (left), world known sporting editor of The New York Herald-Tribune and W. A. Davenport, of Collier's Weekly.

Gene was introduced to E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the C.P.R., the same morning and when "two strong men meet face to face"—well, read your Kipling for the answer.

Later they went to Macaza, 100 miles away to the north in the Laurentians where a private fishing reserve covering Five Finger Lake, Sugar Bush Lake and a chain of other lakes was put at their disposal, and where they caught many a speckled beauty of trout in the three days they spent there.

Tunney knows something of Canada and the northern forests already, having lived a couple of Winters in the lumber camps of the Booth Company in 1920 and 1921 "to harden his hands" he told interviewers here when he arrived. He speaks in a quiet well-controlled voice and appeared to be harassed by the remorseful thought that "it seemed a shame that three able-bodied men should be going out of set purpose to deceive a bunch of poor, innocent, trusting fish." Apart from these small twinges of conscience, he looked as happy and carefree as his photograph shows.

BLUEBIRDS FACE Y.M.C.A. TONIGHT

Softball Leadership Will Be at Stake When "A" Section Teams Clash—Garrison Oppose Iron Men

Six teams comprising the "A" section of the Victoria and District Softball League will be in action tonight as follows:

Victoria Brass & Iron Works vs. Garrison, at Work Point; umpire, E. Stock.

Hillcrests vs. Andreans, at Beacon Hill; umpire, Cyril Turner.

Bryant's Bluebirds vs. Y.M.C.A., at Central Park; umpire, Bob Whyte.

The game at Central Park will see the section-leading Y.M.C.A. out to chalk up their third straight win in as many starts. The Bluebirds are a snappy aggregation, and are expected to give the leaders plenty of worry.

At Work Point the Victoria Brass & Iron Works will be guests to the Tommies in what promises to be an interesting tussle. The iron men have yet to win a game and will attempt to humble the soldier nine.

The Hillcrests and the Andreans, who are at present tied with one win apiece, are scheduled to clash at Beacon Hill. The Hillmen are playing a good brand of ball and are favorites to defeat the Andreans.

All games will commence at 6:30 o'clock. The last mentioned club is the home team.

Dempsey Spurns Offer To Fight Woodchopper

Ex-Champion Flatly Rejects Proposal of Rickard —Will Probably Be Matched With Winner of the Sharkey-Maloney Bout Early in August

NEW YORK, May 16.—Jack Dempsey has turned down Tex Rickard's proposal to fight Paulino Uzcudun around July 1, but at the same time agreed to meet the winner of this Thursday's heavyweight battle between Jim Sharkey and Jim Maloney at a later date. The shake-up in the comeback for the plans for the former champion was disclosed tonight by Rickard in connection with a testimonial dinner to the promoter by the Madison Square Garden Club and its "six hundred millionaires."

Dempsey, according to Rickard's revised schedule, will meet the Sharkey-Maloney winner early in August, in New York, to determine Gene Tunney's opponent in a title bout in September. The ex-champion may have one or two tune-up fights in the West beforehand, but he will engage in only one big elimination preliminary.

This, Rickard intimated, virtually puts Paulino out of the heavyweight picture, although there is a possibility he will be matched with Jack Delaney on June 22, at the Yankee Stadium.

Another Victoria Marksman Named to Join Bisley Team

OTTAWA, May 16.—Quartermaster-Sergeant W. H. Wood, of the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry, Victoria, B.C., is to substitute on Canada's Bisley team for Lieut. H. E. Rolands, Royal Hamilton Regiment, Hamilton, Ont. It was announced from headquarters of the Dominion Rifle Association today that Lieut. Rolands finds it impossible to accept his place on the team.

Canada's marksmen will sail for England on June 10.

Sergeant H. W. Burton, of the Royal Canadian Engineers, is the other member of the team selected from this city.

MONTGOMERY WINS GOLF TITLE

Defeats Art Christopher, Defending Champion, One Up in Close Match Over Thirty-Six Holes

MISS DAWSON NEW LADIES' CHAMPION

J. A. Montgomery was crowned champion of the Macaulay Point Golf Club Sunday, when he met and defeated Art Christopher, the defending champion, one up in the thirty-six-hole final. Playing under excellent conditions, the two finalists shot close to par golf and the match was watched by a large gallery.

Christopher had his opponent two down at the end of the first eighteen, but the latter came back strong in the afternoon round to square the match and go into a one-hole lead at the thirty-second. The next two holes were halved.

The defending champion had a fine chance to square the match and take it into extra holes, but he missed a three-foot putt on the last green and gave his opponent the crown.

In the final of the ladies' championship, played over eighteen holes, Miss H. Dawson defeated Mrs. Barber-Starkey one up. Each of the finalists played steady golf and the winner was in doubt until the last hole.

Crowds Batter Down Iron Gates to See Wrestlers in Action

MELBOURNE, May 16 (Vancouver Daily Province Cable).—Gouging, butting and kicking, with Edwards, the chief offender, were features of the wrestling contest at Melbourne Stadium in which Billy Edwards, of Canada, beat Mike Yokal, of Australia, two falls to one in seven rounds.

The attendance, 12,000, and gate, $13,000, were records.

Three thousand, unable to gain admission, battered down five iron gates with hammers and axes, but because the stadium was already overcrowded, only a few managed to squeeze in.

Speculators, before the match, sold $5 tickets for $25.

M'QUADE WILL MEET LINEHAM IN GOLF FINAL

Former Defeats E. W. Ismay in Semi-Final, While Latter Accounts for Bernie Schwengers

DEFEAT OF MATSON AND TERRY, UPSETS

George and Alex. Straith to Play-Off for Championship of First Flight — Findlay Wins Second

Ed. McQuade, a former city champion, and Harold Lineham, last year's runner-up, will meet in the finals for the Colwood Golf Club championship as the result of their victories in the fourth round played Sunday. McQuade defeated J. B. Uniacke and E. W. Ismay, while Lineham accounted for Dr. George Hall and B. P. Schwengers. Both finalists were taken to the eighteenth before stowing away victories.

Two surprises featured the third round of the championship flight. The defeat of Jack Matson, adjudged one of the strongest southpaws in B. C. and present titleholder of the Oak Bay Golf Club, found Bernie Schwengers at the top of his form and lost by 5 and 3.

E. W. Ismay, one of the veteran members of the club, furnished the other upset when he accounted for Golden Terry, a promising youngster of the club, by 3 and 2.

PLAY FINE GOLF

The semi-finals in the afternoon produced some great golf. Ismay had McQuade three down at the seventh, but McQuade came back strong and took the next five holes. Play seesawed from then on and at the eighteenth the pair teed-off all square. Ismay failed to sink a two-foot putt on the last green and McQuade holed his to cop the match.

Lineham's and Schwengers' match was nip and tuck all the way. At the turn Schwengers had a one-hole lead, but Lineham squared the match, and at the eighteenth the players were all square. Lineham holed a long putt on the last green to give him the match.

The finals will be played next Sunday over thirty-six holes, and the match promises to be an exceptionally close one.

GEORGE VERSUS ALEX.

Two brothers, George and Alex. Straith, will meet to settle the first flight. George polished off "Mickey" Richardson and Walter Hall on the day's play, while Alex. accounted for Archie Muir and L. D. Rines. Each is playing at the top of his form and when the match starts, brotherly love will cease, according to George.

"Jock" Findlay was the winner of the second flight by defeating J. Cummings 7 and 5.

The results are as follows:

THIRD ROUND

H. Lineham won from Dr. Geo. Hall, 4-3.

B. P. Schwengers won from J. Matson, 5-3.

E. W. Ismay won from G. M. Terry, 3-2.

Golf Notes

By P. J. GAUDIN

Instructor at Skokie Country Club and Union League Club, Chicago

CARE OF THE CLUBS

Even before the golfer has acquired any great amount of skill, he will develop a positive affection for one or more clubs. They have the feeling of fitting, analagous to the feeling of wearing a well-fitting suit of clothes. The actual choice of clubs never is ended until the player has that same feeling for every club in his bag. In the course of years many a player has bought a hundred clubs and more before he is satisfied.

And that feeling of satisfaction can be destroyed overnight when a set of clubs has been used during a rain, put away without attention and one or more of the shafts is found to have warped a trifle. Steel shafts are not subject to this calamity—for that is what it is to find a treasured shaft getting out of shape. There is no use in trying to doctor up a hickory shaft that has begun to warp. The warp will simply grow with age and the feeling of doubt that assails the player when the warp first is noticed will deepen to the point of discarding the club when the bend becomes so pronounced that it interferes with the accuracy of the shot.

Clubs always should be dried carefully and oiled when they have been wet. It is as important to dry and oil the head as the shaft. Otherwise the water gets in under the surface and the head cracks at a most inopportune time. When it is certain the shafts and heads are perfectly dry it is best to give them frequent coats of shellac. This is as easy as oiling, but in either case be sure the club is thoroughly dry before treating it.

Many star golfers, possibly patterning after Walter J. Travis, never have the heads of iron clubs polished. The reflection of the sun on a polished putter has caused many a missed putt, and the same may be said of other iron clubs. Also, many experts object to the steady lightening of a perfectly balanced club by the wear of polishing, especially when the modern emery and buffing wheels are used carelessly. Don't put away the clubs for the off season by putting them into the bag and leaving it in a corner. Hang up each club with a screw-eye in the end of the shaft, or lay them flat on a table with the heads hanging over the edge.

CANADA IS THIRD PRODUCER OF GOLD

Mining Industry Jumps From Ten Million in 1886 to 225 Million in 1925

MONTREAL, May 16.—Canada is now the third gold producer in the world, being exceeded only by the Transvaal and the United States, was the statement made by Major J. Macintosh Bell, O.B.E., LL.D., in addressing the Canadian Club of Montreal recently, in the Windsor Hotel. With regard to Quebec there was every reason to believe that it would not lag behind in mineral development, and in that development Montreal was likely to benefit. In general the speaker, while dealing with his subject in a guarded way, left the impression that Canada had every reason to expect great things from her mineral resources, and that despite certain disappointments which had left a bad name in Britain, an effort should be made to interest the Old Country in Canadian mines. He believed that the approaching visit of British engineers in connection with the Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress next Summer would give a fuller appreciation of what is being accomplished in the widely diversified mines of Canada and would lead to a fuller recognition of the opportunities presented by the great unexplored areas of this country.

In approaching his subject, "The Mining Developments in Northern Ontario and Quebec," Major Bell, who is president and managing director of the Huronian Belt Company, Limited, which controls the Keeley, Vipond and other mines, first viewed mining from the historical aspect, and showed that the discovery of gold had paved the way to the opening up of countries, notably South Africa, the American West and in Ontario.

As illustrating the growth of the mineral industry in the Dominion, the speaker cited figures showing that in 1925 the total value of the mineral output was about $225,000,000, or $25 for each man, woman and child of the population, the largest amount, per capita, of any country in the world. Ten years prior to that date it was $137,000,000, or $17 per capita, while in 1886 the total was only a little over $10,000,000, or about $2.25 per capita.

"The Dominion is now the third gold producer in the world," declared Major Bell, "being exceeded only by South Africa and the United States. Figures for the six largest producers for 1925, the last reported, are: Transvaal, $198,399,790; the United States, $47,956,991; Canada, $35,880,819; Mexico, $16,309,929; Australia and New Zealand, $13,914,610; India, $8,140,711."

ONTARIO FIGURES

"Ontario is Canada's richest mineral province," added Major Bell. "Its chief products of this character in the order of their importance are gold, nickel, silver, copper, platinum and cobalt. In 1926 the gold production was approximately $31,000,000; nickel, copper and platinum about $19,500,000; and silver, cobalt, arsenic and other elements about $10,000,000, making a total metallic production for the year of about $61,000,000.

"The value of the output of the metallic mines of the northern part of the province alone, up to the present, has reached the vast total of $1,000,000,000. The production of silver from Cobalt and the subsidiary camps amounts already to well over 350,000,000 ounces, of which more than $100,000,000 has been distributed in dividends. Sudbury, as you know, is much the greatest nickel camp in the world and, incidentally, it is the most important source of platinum metals on the American continent. During 1926 the gold and silver mines of the province paid dividends of $12,563,745, an increase of $2,240,000 over the year before. The International Nickel Company distributed $3,881,524, and in addition the Mond Nickel Company and the Huronian Belt Company paid to the shareholders in Great Britain substantial amounts derived from the Northern mines."

MINING IN QUEBEC

While mining in the province of Quebec had been conducted in a somewhat desultory way since the days of the early French regime, said Major Bell, it had not become the important industry such as it was in the sister province. "There is every reason to believe, however," he said, "that Quebec will not lag behind in mineral development; exploration of new areas in what is known as the Rouyn district has given most interesting results. While it is naturally much too early to estimate in figures the value of these new discoveries, even recent unsavory events in market affairs are not able to conceal the fact that there is here, stretching eastward from the Ontario boundary for about 100 miles, an area of extensive mineralization possessing deposits of copper, gold, zinc and other elements, the development of which will be of great importance to the whole province, particularly to Montreal."

The speaker briefly traversed the mineral resources of British Columbia, Nova Scotia and other provinces, and pointed out that the greater part of the country which had such resources was composed of pre-Cambrian rocks, which were also the chief source of gold in South Africa and Australia. He warned his hearers that this wealth was not inexhaustible; nevertheless, seeing that not more than fifteen or twenty per cent of the pre-Cambrian rocks, even in Ontario, had been prospected at all, and a very much smaller proportion for the whole Dominion, the vast possibilities were evident.

CANADIAN SHAREHOLDERS

Major Bell cited figures showing that fifty-four per cent of the shareholders in Canadian mines are Canadians, thirty per cent American, thirteen per cent British and three per cent other countries.

POLICE LEAVE SOVIET HOUSE

London Building Turned Back to Russians—Raid Causes Angry Barrage of Questions in House

ARCOS CHAIRMAN LODGES PROTEST

LONDON, May 16.—The police withdrew from Soviet House at 6 o'clock this evening, having been in possession of the building for four days and nights. Arcos, Limited, the Russian commercial agency, will resume its normal functions tonight. Search of the building and its contents was practically completed at midnight Sunday, but the police remained today to satisfy themselves that no concealed safes or caches had been overlooked.

The state document, said to be of much importance, which occasioned the raid, has not been found.

M. Soroking, acting chairman of Arcos, in a new protest today to the Home Secretary, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, demands to be informed as to what were the allegations on which the extraordinary action was based and what had been removed from the building.

The action of the Home Secretary in forcing the safes in Soviet House arroused an acrimonious discussion by question and answer in the House of Commons. The Secretary was angrily attacked by Laborites and challenged to give proof of his allegation that the missing state document had been in the possession of Arcos. He evaded a direct reply to this challenge and also to many other questions.

RAID DEFENDED

The Home Secretary told a crowded House that information, sent to him by the Secretary of War last Wednesday had satisfied him that a certain official document was, or had been, in the possession of some one on the premises occupied by Arcos, Limited. The police had taken possession of certain papers which might bear upon the matter and the examination of these was still proceeding.

Acting on the information sent by the Secretary of War the police had been authorized to search the premises under a warrant duly obtained. The search was carried out strictly in accordance with the warrant.

DOCUMENT THERE

The document in question was not found, but Sir William stated that he was satisfied that it is or was in the Soviet house. The document was one of which unauthorized persons were known to be attempting to obtain copies.

His action in authorizing the warrant, he continued, was with the knowledge and consent of the Premier and Foreign Secretary.

Replying to the Soviet charges that women employees had been roughly handled, he declared that no woman on the premises had been searched. All that had happened was the searching of their handbags. He hoped to be able to make a full statement on Thursday, to which date the discussion was adjourned.

Answering a question, Godfrey Locker Lampson, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said that neither the Russian trade delegation, its staff or premises, nor its head, as such, enjoyed diplomatic immunity.

Tickets for the event are moving rapidly and giving every indication of the house being packed on the night of the fight.

MUSIC STRUGGLE TAKES NEW TURN

Queen's Hall Authorities Gain Advantage in Fight With Radio Rivals by Securing Beacham's Services

LONDON, May 16.—The fight between the music managers of Queen's Hall, where Sir Henry Wood has been conductor for the past quarter of a century, and the British Broadcasting Corporation has taken a new turn.

The Corporation won the first round by securing Sir Henry to conduct their concerts. Now William Boosey, manager of Queen's Hall, was invited Sir Thomas Beacham, former opera conductor, and the London Symphony Orchestra, to undertake a national series of concerts, which Sir Henry Wood has made such a feature of London's musical life.

According to The Westminster Gazette, which makes the announcement, the matter has not finally been settled, but it is believed that Sir Thomas will accept. It is an interesting development, as not long ago Sir Thomas was threatening to shake the dust of London from his feet, declaring that England was not a musical nation and he would seek a new career in the United States.

Pender Harbor Man Fined for Assault

VANCOUVER, May 16.—Convicted on two charges of causing grievous bodily harm, Donald McKay, fisherman, was ordered by Stipendiary Magistrate B. B. Rynildsen, of Pender Harbor, to pay fines of $50 and $15 and costs. The complainants were Charles Kean and his wife, and it was alleged that McKay struck Kean with a piece of wood. Mrs. Kean said that the accused kicked her.

Evidence showed that the two men had not been on speaking terms for two months.

BROADWAY NIGHT LIFE IS FEATURED

Gilda Gray's "Cabaret" Film of Great White Way Shows at Capitol

It's here at last—the real "inside story" of Broadway night life!

Gilda Gray's new Paramount picture, "Cabaret," which arrived at the Capitol Theatre yesterday is it! "Cabaret" towers above everything of the sort which preceded it. If authenticity is sought—if you want to know exactly what the clubs look like, who the entertainers are, what dances are being danced or what clothes are being worn—"Cabaret" should be seen. And if there is one woman in America who knows night clubs, Gilda Gray is she. Her life story is too well known to need recounting here, but it should be noted that Gilda first won applause as a cabaret entertainer. Because of this, "Cabaret" is real!

ON THE STAGE

The stage attractions at the Capitol Theatre this week include Nadj Rosetti, the famous Italian lyric soprano, who made such a hit here last week; Miss Rosetti is being held over for another week, and will offer a new programme. Quale and Kelley, a clever team of singing and dancing, late with the famous Duncan Sisters Revue, also appear on this very entertaining bill of vaudeville.

Perfect Reproduction of Wily Oriental Depicted "Mr. Wu" at Dominion

Lon Chaney—man of a thousand faces—has given the screen a new disguise. He has disguised a human soul instead of a human face—this is the secret of "Mr. Wu."

Chaney transformed himself into a Chinaman in the stupendous new drama now playing at the Dominion Theatre. He used his uncanny tricks of make-up, of course—but the significant fact was not his face, painted to portray one of another race.

His walk, his every little action—in fact, his very personality, turned Chinese for the picture. It is said that he did it by studying Chinese customs, philosophy, literature, until he actually thought from a Chinese standpoint.

After seeing "Mr. Wu" this is not difficult to believe.

It is a mighty character—this Chinese mandarin, wise in the wisdom of ages of Chinese lore; wise in the newer wisdom of a European college, a grim nemesis pursuing, with implacable hatred and the certainty of doom, the English family from which he had suffered wrong.

VARIETY THEATRE After a span of unremitting hard luck, Dorothy Revier is at last launched on the road which was predicted for her when she was chosen a baby star in 1925 by the "Wampas," a Hollywood club of publicity men, which each year chooses the thirteen most promising younger actresses. Miss Revier has an important supporting role in "Poker Faces," the Universal Jewel which is now showing at the Variety Theatre, with Laura La Plante and Edward Everett Horton in the starring roles. Just after she was chosen a baby star Miss Revier was signed to play the leading role with one of the most popular of the Latin lovers. Her wardrobe was completed and she had visions of becoming immensely popular—a just dessert, with her beauty and acting ability. But suddenly the company dissolved and the picture has never been made, although this star in still making pictures.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Redolent of the vivid breath of the pampas, "Flame of the Argentine," Evelyn Brent's most recent production for F.B.O., which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre here, is in many respects the best, as well as the most unusual, picture she has yet made. The locale in the great cattle country of South America is an original note, and the emotional possibilities of the little Spanish pianist and her regeneration, a role beautifully interpreted by Miss Brent, allows of infinite dramatic quality. Under the directorial genius of Eddie Dillon, the splendid and thrilling developments of the story have been cleverly worked out to an exciting climax in which the heroine rides a desperate race to save her patron's life. With Orville B. Caldwell as the mysterious hero, Frank Leigh as Tovar, the heavy, and Florence Turner as the Donna Aguila, and a supporting cast that includes Dan Makarenko, Rosita Marstini and Evelyn Selby, the subordinate roles are excellently handled.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE A domestic comedy-drama of the whole-some type is Warner Bros.' production of "Other Women's Husbands," featuring Marie Prevost and Monte Blue and directed by Erle Kenton, which opened yesterday at the Playhouse Theatre. Monte Blue thoroughly entertains in the role of Dick Lambert, a light-hearted young husband in the importing business, with evening dress suit conferences with Paris buyers and similar business anxieties. The trouble—and the fun—all starts when the wife (played by Marie Prevost) leaves for a fortnight's visit to mother in the country. Dick turns to his old college chum, Jack Harding (Huntly Gordon), a prosperous young attorney, who has no uncertain admiration for Mrs. Lambert, for consolation and diversion. "Other Women's Husbands" is a very inetrestingly and amusingly involved rectangular fabric of misrepresentation, misunderstanding and circumstances on the high road to the divorce courts.

In the club the conversation had turned to artists and their peculiarities. One man mentioned a certain artist who always painted the same object—a woman.

"Yes," answered someone, "that's true. You see, it happens to be his wife. He always paints her because he loves her so much."

There was silence for a minute while they digested this information. Suddenly a youthful voice broke the silence.

"Art for 'eart's sake, I suppose?" it asked.

BIG COMEDY DRAWS FULL HOUSE AT THE COLISEUM THEATRE

The big English comedy, "French Leave," now being played at the Coliseum Theatre, was successful in drawing a full house at the first showing yesterday.

"French Leave" was first produced and ran for an entire season at the Apollo and Globe Theatres, London, and has been one of the outstanding successes of recent years. It's a rollicking, clean, laugh-compelling comedy, and is characterized by one of the great London dailies as "a delightful satire on military rules and discipline."

The scene of the play is laid in one of the officer's billets in France during the war and deals with the complicating and amusing situations caused by an officer's wife who succeeded in being near her husband by posing as a French girl. A jealous husband, gallant officers and two "hand-waving" Frenchmen run riot throughout the three acts.

Playing the two leading characters are Miss Peggy Burnand, formerly of London, who plays Mlle. Juliette, whose escapade gets some of the "higher-ups" of the B.E.F. into all sorts of trouble. As Brigadier-General Root, C.B., D.S.O., Mr. Frank G. Vyvyan is seen to advantage in a part with which he is very familiar. A strong cast of characters support the two principals in this frolicsome farce.

John Drew Heads All Star Cast at Royal on May 23

J. M. Kerrigan, the young Irish player who is to appear with John Drew and a host of other celebrities in George C. Tyler's all-star revival of "Trelawny of the Wells," at the Royal Victoria Theatre Monday, May 23, first obtained consideration for his talents as an actor by writing for The Dublin Mail. As a journalist his articles on the Irish situation in those pre-war days brought him to the attention of a wide public, as a result of which he secured his first engagement with the Abbey Players, with whom he later came to America.

JUSTICE MURPHY TALKS TO KNIGHTS

Interesting Account Given of History of Pacific Northwest From Time of Spanish

"This Province is the Garden of Eden," said Mr. Justice Murphy in an address given at the Knights of the Round Table dinner held at the Empress Hotel yesterday. "Balboa in 1514 was the first European to set sail on what is now the Pacific Coast," he resumed.

"Balboa was closely followed by Sir Francis Drake, who rounded the Horn in the wake of Magellan plundering Spanish galleons laden with treasure. In 1724, Peter the Great, with the idea of increasing Russian territory, sent out an expedition under Bering, who proceeded to what is now Alaska. Bering's second expedition set out from Siberia, the destination being Kamchatka, where a ship was built. Sea otter skins were taken to sell to the Chinese, who prized them highly as an ornament for ceremonial robes. Bering died on an island named after himself in 1742. The first authentic settlement of Russians was at Bodega Bay, near San Francisco, about 1812."

Justice Murphy then went on to tell of the search for the Northwest Passage, a supposedly short route to tap the wealth of India. He mentioned the first British scientific expedition to the Northwest coast under Captain James Cook, R.N., in 1778, and the circumnavigation of Vancouver Island in 1792 by Captain George Vancouver, R.N.

Tracing the romantic history of British Columbia and Pacific Coast points from Cook's time, through the explorations of Mears, Mackenzie, Simon Fraser, John Jacob Astor, the Northwest Fur Company and the Hudson's Bay Company, Justice Murphy told of the landing of James Douglas at Victoria and the erection of a Hudson's Bay post here in 1842. Justice Murphy concluded his narrative with an account of the joint occupation of San Juan Island by the British and Americans and the arbitration settling the boundaries of Canada and the United States in 1872.

"Why are you not working with the rest?" asked the lady visitor to the asylum.

"I'm crazy," was the candid reply.

"But surely crazy people can work," argued the lady.

"Yes," retored the inmate, "but I'm not so crazy as that."

GYROS HEAR OF SPORT IN EAST

MR. LESTER PATRICK GIVES HIS IMPRESSIONS GAINED AT MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

Only Four of Former Victoria Players Left on Detroit Team at End of Season

Professional hockey in the East, with special reference to his impressions gained of the workings of the Madison Square Garden in New York, formed the theme of an interesting address given before the Victoria Gyro Club yesterday by Mr. Lester Patrick, former pilot of the Victoria Cougars, and last season the manager of the New York Rangers.

Mr. Patrick told the Gyros that his impressions of hockey in the United States lead him to believe that it would eventually gain just as great a hold on the public there as it had done in Canada.

"We played before 18,000 people at one game in Madison Square Garden and the gate receipts amounted to $31,000, which is more than I took in a whole season in Victoria.

"Madison Square Garden is a wonderful place." Mr. Patrick went on, "they can hold anything there, rodeos, horse shows, concerts, balls, bike races, athletic carnivals, and anything else you want. At the policemen's ball 5,000 people were dancing. At the Delaney-Maloney fight over 20,000 people paid over $200,000 to see it. The six-day bike races provided a tremendous thrill, and at the sprints the Garden was jammed to its capacity.

BUSY EVERY NIGHT

"The Garden is utilized for something every night, and it requires $5,000 a night to book it. They make ice for hockey in two hours, and can get rid of it in forty minutes. The transformation of the Garden from one setting to another is wonderful."

Mr. Patrick recalled the problems he had to solve before the New York Rangers finally went to the front in the American division of the National Hockey League, and stayed there all season. He spoke of the collapse of the Detroit Cougars and how that club finished up with only four of the former Victoria players on its line-up.

In concluding, the speaker pointed out how much harmony, loyalty and co-operation meant in daily life as well as in the sport of hockey.

The Gyros staged a novel introduction stunt.

RURAL EDUCATION SPEAKER'S TOPIC

Rev. D. M. Solandt Gives Address at Centennial Church on Questions of Vital Importance

"That the process of education is to fit a man for life in a civilized community, to fit him for his place as a member of that community," such was the definition of education as given by Rev. Donald M. Solandt, M.A., D.D., associate general manager and book steward of the United Church of Canada, in an address last evening in the Centennial Church on "The Intellectual and Spiritual Background of National Life."

The speaker gave an interesting account of the work of the British Institute of Aduit Education which was formed in 1917, with Lord Haldane as president, and Premier Baldwin, Lord Grey and Lord Clynes as vice-presidents. The commission had come to the conclusion that 'there was something lacking in the intellectual and spiritual background of the national life of Britain, and after three years of careful work, in the course of which they reviewed all the different educational systems of the world, they presented their report to Parliament."

FOREMOST QUESTION

The question of establishing an educated public became foremost in the minds of these thinking men, for education is an inseparable aspect of citizenship and should be universal and lifelong. It was thus working along these lines, with the idea that education should not merely cease at the close of school, high school or college, but with the idea of "lifelong" education they began to stabilize their ideas.

Denmark was found, declared Dr. Solandt, to have the most contented, intelligent rural population of the world. The educational system was briefly outlined by the speaker, who spoke in glowing terms of the wonderful results that such a system was producing. Looking to the success of this school system, which in a modified form was being introduced into Britain, the report of the commission outlined a definite form of action. "From a community centre should radiate the influences of different forms of effort. The institute should have a library and museum, and a hall large enough for dances, concerts, plays, public lectures and exhibitions. In a word, this institute should be the centre of educational, social and recreational activity."

CANADA'S NEED

Such a plan might be introduced with unlimited success in Canada, added Dr. Solandt, who continued in part: "We need in Canada just such a community organization around a library through which our decentralized universities would give their leadership to the whole country through the messages of the literatures of the world, whereby the lives of all would be illumined by imagination, their interests and sympathies widened and the continued process of education would be an inexhaustible source of happiness in their lives."

It was an idealistic background which had changed Denmark, added the speaker, "and with such a spirit of mutual trust established, wise methods of co-operative marketing will make the financial background of our rural life more secure; with the drudgery of life constantly lightened by the ministration of the great ideals of life as found in books, which ministration should be lifelong, we can accept Britain's challenge and make good by developing here an intelligent, a happy and a permanent population especially in our rural districts," concluded Dr. Solandt.

At the conclusion of his address Dr. Solandt was warmly thanked by Rev. J. P. Westman on behalf of the audience.

DAIRY ROBBERY CASE IS CALLED

Walter Atkinson Enters Plea of Not Guilty and Elects Summary Trial

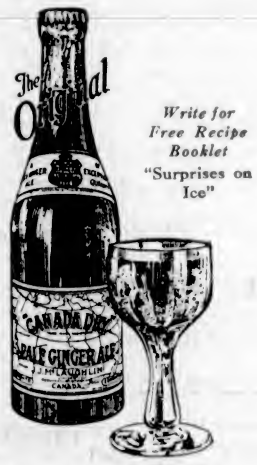

Walter Atkinson, arrested six months ago in Vancouver and sent to the penitentiary for a term of six months on a charge of theft, was arraigned before Magistrate George Jay here yesterday, on a charge of breaking and entering the premises of the Royal Dairy, View Street, on November 14 last, and committing theft. He elected summary trial before the local magistrate and entered a plea of not guilty. He was remanded until tomorrow morning for hearing.

A raid by Chief of Police John, Fry, Sergeant James Florence, Constables Sam Strange and George Foster early Saturday morning on the premises of the Dai Fat Club, located in rooms on the ground floor of the Dai Fat Club, on the east side of Fan Tan Alley, resulted in Joe Quinn and eleven other Chinamen appearing in the city police court yesterday to face charges of being found in a disorderly house. Mr. William C. Moresby, who represented all the accused, pleaded guilty on their behalf and asked for the imposition of the minimum penalty. Each was fined $10, or one month's imprisonment in default of payment.

Three Chinamen, Kong, Sing and Lum Tai, pleaded guilty to a charge of being found in a place to which persons resort for the purpose of smoking and inhaling opium, and were each fined the sum of $15 and $1 costs, or one month's imprisonment in default. Sergeant Thomas Heatley told the court of the raid which he made with Constable Blackstock on Cabin 15, Theatre Alley, on Saturday, when they found the accused. No opium was located, he testified.

Tom Luscombe pleaded guilty to driving his automobile to the common danger on King's Road, and paid the court a fine of $20. The circumstances of the case were related by Constable James Strong.

Margaret Scott, charged with vagrancy, pleaded not guilty and was remanded until tomorrow.

EX-LABOR PREMIER LAUDS PROHIBITION

United States Law Is Great Experiment That No One Should Sneer at, Declares Mr. MacDonald

NEW YORK, May 16.—Prohibition is a great effort to keep people decent, and Britishers who come to the United States should not sneer at it, Ramsay MacDonald, former premier, said today as he prepared to end his American visit, which was broken by his three weeks' illness.

The Labor leader, who will leave tomorrow night aboard the Berengaria for England, said that he would like to see a great moral appeal to all good citizens to respect the law.

"You think it is a good law?" he was asked.

"I say it is a great effort—a great, praiseworthy effort—and as I like great efforts, I resent my fellow countrymen coming over here and sneering at it. I shall certainly take no part in that," he answered.

The Civic Federation consists of city hall employees and outside workmen.

Plan for New Federal Building at Toronto

The decision of the Federal Government to erect a three-million-dollar structure in Ottawa has been followed by a revival of the project to put up a Federal building in Toronto in which will be housed the customs and excise branches and other branches of Federal Departments. An architect's drawing of the proposed structure is shown above. The building will be erected on the property already owned by the Dominion. It is expected that when the estimates for public works come down at the next session of Parliament, money will be provided for an immediate start on the new building.

UNIVERSITY HAS SPECIAL COURSE

SIX WEEKS' SESSION PROVIDED FOR STUDENTS THIS SUMMER

Teachers Are Afforded Chance to Pursue Studies Towards Taking Degrees

The Summer session of the University of British Columbia, which has become a feature of the broadening of the functions of the institution in keeping with the policy followed by many other similar educational centres, will open July 4 and will continue until August 19. This provides for a six weeks' session, exclusive of the time taken with the examinations.

The idea in connection with these courses that are being provided during the Summer months at the University buildings in Vancouver is to afford the opportunity for teachers and others who wish to avail themselves of the training that will be afforded by the classes to fit themselves for examinations looking to the obtaining of their degrees from the institution.

Under the arrangements that are being carried out those who take advantage of the courses will be enabled to take part of their course in one year and later supplement this by taking other parts of the course in succeeding years. It is pointed out that this system has been made effective in various other educational institutions, and the results have been very satisfactory. In many instances, it is pointed out, the students engaged in teaching or otherwise are afforded the opportunity to pursue their studies in the University and later may re-enter the institution and complete the remaining years of their course qualifying for a degree.

The students are required to attend regularly the classes in the course which they are taking and, in order to pass the examination at the end of the course must attain fifty per cent of the marks obtainable.

The staff of the Summer session of the University is made up as follows: L. S. Klinck, M.S.A., D.Sc., LL.D., president of the University; Wilford M. Aikin, M.A., director, John Burroughs School, St. Louis, Mo., special lecturer in education; John Aliardyce, M.A. (Brit. Col.), instructor in chemistry; H. F. DOOMED INDIAN SERIOUSLY ILL

JOSEPH SANKEY ENTERS HOSPITAL FOR THROAT OPERATION

Further Reprieve Expected to Permit Appeal to Supreme Court Against Death Sentence

VANCOUVER, May 16.—Joe Sankey, Port Simpson Indian, who stands under sentence of death for the murder of Loretta Chishoim at Prince Rupert a year ago, has been moved from Oakalla prison to the Vancouver General Hospital to undergo an operation for tubercular glands of the throat. His condition is said to be serious.

Although notice of appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada is said to entitle Sankey to a further reprieve, the execution date set on the last reprieve still stands on the record, That is May 23. It is learned, however, that the Attorney-General's Department will apply for a further reprieve some time this week.

It is probable that this application is being deferred until more definite information is available as to when the appeal is to be heard at Ottawa. J. Edward Byrd, Sankey's counsel, who was instructed by the Department of Indian Affairs to take the appeal, stated today that he was trying to get the case on the list for the present sitting, but that the limitations make this exceedingly doubtful unless the Crown waives notices. The next sitting of the court does not begin until October.

One of the judgments on which Mr. Byrd puts much reliance in his appeal is that of Mr. Justice Martin, who dissented from the judgment of the British Columbia Court of Appeal dismissing Sankey's application for a new trial. Mr. Justice Martin handed down a brief memorandum indicating one reason for a new trial, but his extended judgment is yet to come. This judgment has a bearing on the appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada, but the appeal books have been prepared without it and are expected to go forward today, Mr. Byrd said.

"Brains, Limited"

By ARCHIE P. McKISHNIE

Nevilles' tense nerves relaxed somewhat as he left the city behind and felt the soft, clover-scented breeze of the open country caress his temples. He was undertaking a big job. It was all a gamble, but what of that? Everything worth the getting was a gamble. He was going out to Teddy Jerome's quarters to give his old friend a few parting injunctions.

Three miles lay between him and Meadow Course Stables, when rounding a bend in the road he saw a girl mounted on a bay horse motionless beneath a wild locust tree by the side of the road.

Nevilles' heart seemed to turn over and die with the panting throb of the engine, as he brought the huge car to a standstill.

Myra Huntingdon raised her head and gazed at him calmly. In her smart riding-habit she was more beautiful than he had seen her, he thought. Would she speak to him, or would she, figuratively speaking, grind his already-bruised heart beneath her heel? There was only one way to find out. He raised his hat.

"You and Fire Fly make a very charming picture," he addressed her.

She contemplated him coldly, red lips parted half scornfully.

"Yes?" she murmured.

Nevilles felt suddenly all the lawlessness of his prehistoric ancestors. An uncontrollable desire to sweep this glorious, challenging creature from her horse, crush her in his arms and carry her away—away—to God only knows where, was taking possession of him.

He was out of his car and beside her in a moment.

But there he stood abashed, shaken to the very roots of his soul by her frgarant nearness, her sweet innocence. She had leaned down toward him, gloved hands gripping the bridle reins, violet eyes with discs of gold lifting and receding in their depths, holding his own.

"I am glad I met you," she was saying, and he noted that she omitted to address him by name. "Do you know that you—that you are in danger of arrest? My guardian has found out who you are."

"Are you sure?" he asked, after a strained silence.

"Yes, I am sure. I can't forget that you once helped me in time of need," she faltered. "I owe you this warning."

She straightened in the saddle.

"That's all, I think."

He stood aside, and, hat in hand, watched her ride slowly off like an indignant queen might ride from lowliest subject.

Then suddenly his pulses leaped. She had turned; was coming back.

He waited, wondering, hoping until she came up.

"Promise me that you will go away—at once," she said, her lips tremulous.

"Do you wish me to go?" he questioned eagerly.

"I can't find it in my heart to wish you what you rightly deserve," she answered strainedly. "I don't know why. I ought to hate and despise you, but—"

"Then you don't hate me?"

"No."

She caught her breath, and turned her eyes away.

"You will go?"

"Listen," he spoke almost roughly, "before I answer that, will you tell me something. If I were what you first thought me, and not what you think me now; if I had proven up to your measure of a man, would there—could there be—"

She gave a little cry, and jerked the glove from her left hand.

"Look," she whispered.

He saw the blue fire of the diamond on her finger leap like the tongue of a snake that lies coiled and bars the road to happiness. He had been given his answer.

"It is what I have always thought," he said hopelessly. "I just wanted to be sure."

He saw her face suddenly blanch. The next moment she was leaning toward him, her hands on his shoulders.

"Oh, my dear, my dear," she murmured chokingly.

Her arms went about his neck. Slowly her face was lowered; softly the half-parted lips rested on his.

"God bless you and keep you," she murmured.

Then she was gone on the fleet-footed Fire Fly, across the green meadow towards frowsy woodland.

Nujol treatment now recognized method of relieving constipation say medical men

Copyright 1927 Standard Oil Co. (N. J.)

WE recently asked representative doctors all over the country under what conditions they recommended the use of the Nujol type of treatment. The list of special cases was astounding. Almost uniformly they recommended it for both occasional and chronic constipation, as well as an aid to regularity. Nujol, as one doctor put it, "Acts with nature, instead of against it." Another said, "A lubricant is better than a laxative in both chronic and temporary cases."

Doctors Advise Nujol

Eight doctors out of every ten told us they were advising the Nujol type of treatment for their patients in place of laxatives—and for these reasons:

1. Nujol is not habit-forming.
2. A more natural method.
3. A lubricant is better than a laxative.
4. Does not gripe.
5. Is not irritating.
6. Nujol gives lasting relief.

Laxatives and cathartics act by irritating the intestinal tract. They cause the bowels to frantically expel the contents of the intestines and thus rid the system of the drugs that pills and potions contain.

Nujol acts entirely differently. It contains no drugs, no medicine. Its action is mechanical. It merely softens the dried waste matter in the intestines and lubricates the passage so that the muscles of the bowels can expel the waste matter regularly, naturally and thoroughly.

Nature-given remedy

Nujol appeals to the medical man because it is a simple, scientific and safe remedy for constipation, no matter how severe the case may be. It is gentle in its action and pleasant to take. Children love it! Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today. Doctors advise it for constipation, whether chronic or temporary. Avoid substitutes.

Remote and Sea-Girt Northern Cape Rich in Future Possibilities

History and Appreciation of a Little-Known Beauty Spot on Vancouver Island

—By G. H. PEERS—

Perhaps nowhere else in the world is such complete contrast offered as in the northern and southern points of Vancouver Island. Although barely 280 miles apart, these two localities possess total dissimilarity in every respect. On the south lies the city of Victoria with its bland and genial environment; on the north—wilderness—a country of rough and arresting beauty, populated by a mere handful of settlers and hemmed in by stubborn winds and restless turbulent seas.

Now that forthcoming developments on the Island are interesting practically the whole of British Columbia people are commencing to look towards the remaining northern portion with curiosity. The trend of commercial enterprise seems to lead continually in that direction. "What is the nature of this country?" one hears a great many people asking. Here is the answer to that question:

ADVENTUROUS SETTLERS

The story of the original settling of Cape Scott is an epic in itself. I will outline it briefly. About twenty years ago forty Danes, led by one of their number, purchased a small schooner in Vancouver, outfitted with a large supply of every imaginable commodity and started out for the Cape. The territory at that time was practically unknown, the surrounding waters were uncharted, yet these hardy pioneers had every confidence of landing and eventually creating a satisfactory colony. And their vision was fulfilled. In this verdant wilderness they presently built themselves homes and tilled the soil. They raised a good deal of poultry and many hardy cattle. But to what purpose? They early found that it was impossible to reach any markets with the produce of their labors.

Boats did not call at the Cape and the settlers' own schooner soon became wrecked and piled in a useless jumble. The crops were garnered and excessive produce was allowed to rot away. The cattle multiplied, but there appeared no possible means of disposing of them. Gradually the Danes became disheartened, and family after family drifted away, leaving the results of their labors behind, the dyked-off meadows, the cleared land and the high two-storied shacks, each covered with a wealth of sweet-smelling honeysuckle which the Old Country women a few years before had so cheerfully planted. Theirs is a story of honest effort defeated ultimately by the nature of the surrounding waters which render the Cape and adjacent districts very difficult of access.

A RESTLESS OCEAN SHORE

Jutting out as Cape Scott does, directly into the open Pacific, it receives the full force of wind which continually sweeps down from Queen Charlotte Sound and from the Pacific itself. The sea is seldom quiet. One could count on the fingers of one hand the calm days in a year. For this reason the Government has so far consistently refused any petitions for a wharf, claiming that it would take a great deal of money in order to build one of sufficient strength to withstand the constant buffetings.

I dare say that they are quite correct; but in the meantime the territory remains undeveloped, and it is a district decidedly worthy of attention. A country of low rolling hills and beautiful miniature valleys containing many acres of natural meadow land. This wild meadow land of which there is an abundance renders a good deal of initial clearing in many cases unnecessary, for the settler can either turn a plough directly into it or utilize the grass for grazing purposes. Indeed, what clearing there is to be done is of a light nature, as there is no heavy timber on the ground with exception of a line of fir and hemlock fringing the waterfront. For the main part the growth is small bull-pine and very thick salal. And the soil in this district is excellent. A black loam entirely devoid of rocks which has been proved ninety-nine per cent productive. Years ago the Danes had found it highly productive and they utilized the the best of it, patiently dyking off by handwork the head of a picturesque lagoon which runs for six miles back into the land. But soil is equally good in the valleys or along the waterfront, along the edge of the splendid white sand beaches which rim both east and west coast. Someday when that oft-mentioned highway to the north end becomes a material fact or when a regular steamer service to the Cape is inaugurated, these beaches will be regarded with surprise. They vary from one to four miles in length and are composed of hard-packed white sand. At times the breakers hereabouts have been known to reach a height of thirty feet. Speaking of surf-board riding! Shades of Waikiki!

SNOW ALMOST UNKNOWN

Naturally, considering the position of the Cape, there is an unusually large rainfall, but to offset this drawback the general climate all year round is extremely mild. Snow is almost unknown here during the Winter months. For this reason, and also because of the additional inducement of the long lagoon and many adjacent small lakes, it is a great calling place for the southward migrating flocks of wild duck and geese. The big Canadian honker pauses here, fourteen and sixteen pounders, feeding and resting by the hundred on the lagoon mouth. It is said that when the Danish settlers originally arrived, geese and duck were so plentiful as to be knocked down with a stick. Even at the present time during the season they arrive in such numbers that the inhabitants, being free of any game laws, bag sufficient to salt them down by the crock. But there are very few deer obtainable. The destructive cougars which are unusually numerous on the north end of the island have harried and destroyed the deer until they are almost wiped out in this particular locality. However, the sportsman will find ample scope for his skill between bird hunting and the fishing, which is excellent, particularly trout.

GARDENERS DO WELL

Some years ago a number of families traveling the usual route of approach (that is to say, by coastal steamer to Shushartie Bay and gasboat for the concluding twenty miles) arrived at Cape Scott and endeavored, as had the Danes before them, to make a home and a living there.

A number of the new homesteaders, having faith in the appearance of the place, worked hard and created admirable homes. They built extensive log cabins, obtaining the material for these entirely from the land or helped out in some cases with driftwood from the beaches. As time went by, a considerable amount of acreage was gradually brought under cultivation also, and it began to yield such excellent results both in garden produce and grain that the settlers' hopes were high. Two or three of them even went to the extent of bringing in glass from Vancouver and erecting large glasshouses for the raising of young plants and early garden stuff. It was possible, they discovered, to market a certain amount of produce at Port Alice, on Quatsino Sound, where a large pulp mill is situated. A professional market gardener attempted this and made it pay, even though transportation had to be carried on by gasboat. Beef cattle prospered here also, grazing for the most part on the abundant wild grass which grew in the meadows or around the head of the lagoon. But cattle proved a somewhat doubtful asset, being in the first place difficult to obtain and later to dispose of. It is related that one individual, in order to bring in a herd of milk cows, drove them through the bush from Port Alberni, on the west coast of the Island, clear to Cape Scott. It is a distance of about 150 miles and encompasses a territory rough and wild in the extreme. Yet the fellow made the trip in safety, as did his precious herd of milkers.

ROAD ALMOST COMPLETED

Obviously, one can see at a glance that a road is badly needed which will open up this district, for the chief interest of Cape Scott lies not so much in its present condition as in its future potentialities. In point of fact, such a highway is now practically an assured fact, as the road from Port Hardy, on the northeastern coast, which is to connect with Port Alice, on the west, is being pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within the year. A second or branch road is already partly constructed from Port Alice to the Cape thirty miles northward, and upon the completion of this an easy route of access to two good seaports, each possessing a regular steamer service, will materialize.

A rich and undeveloped country, equalling in agricultural possibilities anything to be found in the far-famed Californian valleys, lies on the north end of this Island, and such a road as the above-mentioned will eventually open up one of the least known yet the most beautiful and productive spots to be found in the whole of British Columbia.

ALBERNI ANGLER SLIPS TO DEATH

WM. MARSHALL, SHINGLE MILL MANAGER, FALLS INTO SWOLLEN SOMASS RIVER

Rushing Water Sweeps Him Rapidly Over Falls and Rapids in Sight of Companion

ALBERNI, May 16—A sad tragedy occurred here yesterday afternoon, when Mr. William Marshall, manager of the Alberni Shingle Mill at Port Alberni, was drowned in plain view of several witnesses who were powerless to aid him.

Mr. Marshall was fishing at the old paper mill dam on the Somass River when he slipped and fell into the river, which is unusually high just now, and was carried rapidly downstream over the falls.

The accident was witnessed by Mr. H. A. Maclean, of Alberni, who was fishing with him at the time, as well as two or three others on the river bank, and the last seen of Mr. Marshall was when he was being swept down the rapids. He was observed to throw his hands over his head, and it is presumed that he struck a rock, as he was known to be a strong swimmer.

The Provincial Police were notified by Mr. Maclean immediately, and Provincial Constables Monks and H. M. Wood were speedily at the scene, together with Constable M. M. Stevens, of the Alberni City Police.

Dragging operations were started at once, without result, and instructions were given to the Indians to place nets across the river to catch the body if it were carried downstream. Throughout yesterday attempts to recover the body by dragging, the use of boats, and by blasting in places where it was thought it might have become lodged under a rock, were continued, but up to last night no trace had been found.

Mr. Marshall's father and brother arrived here by today's stage. The victim of the accident was well known and well liked here, where he had resided for about a year and a half.

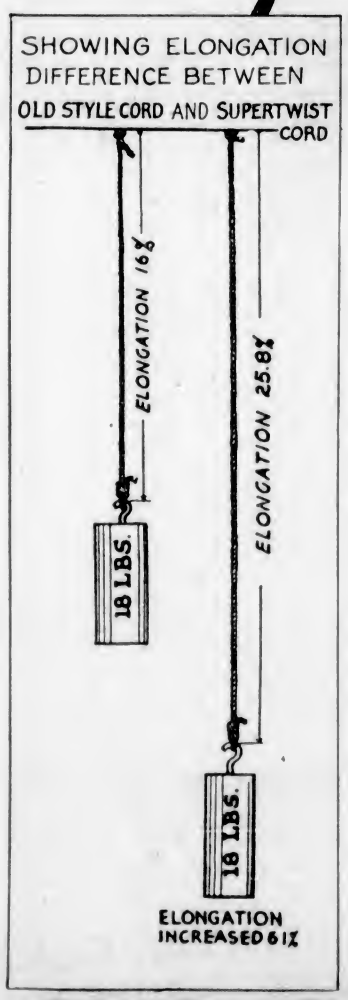

Fulford Badminton Club Holds Dance

The hall was prettily decorated, white narcissi being used for the stage; for the supper tables bluebells and anemones were used. At the dance which followed the cards over a hundred guests were present, with Heaton's Orchestra in attendance. After expenses are paid the club will give the sum cleared for the painting of the Institute Hall.

61% Greater Elasticity because of Supertwist

Protects you against Tire Troubles

SEVERAL years ago Goodyear realized the greater mileage which a cord tire would give if the cords in it were more elastic—better able to stretch and recover under the blows of the road. Having its own cord mills, Goodyear was able to experiment to this end.

After several years of actual use in tires Goodyear can claim these virtues for SUPERTWIST Cord. SUPERTWIST Cord is made by a patented Goodyear process which gives this cord 61% greater elasticity than old-style cords. It stands punishment. It increases the life of Goodyear Tires.

To be sure of SUPERTWIST quality, Goodyear makes this cord in its own cord mills.

All Goodyear Cord Tires—balloon or high-pressure—are built of SUPERTWIST—and only Goodyears. They are sold by Goodyear Selected Dealers at the lowest prices ever quoted for such mileage.

PEKING SOON TO BE TAKEN SAYS BORODIN

Cantonese Armies to End Victorious March on Capital During Summer, Russian Adviser Declares

REDS WELCOME SPLIT IN PARTY

Defection of Chiang Kai Shek Means Unification of Communist Elements, Correspondent Told

By VINCENT SHEEHAN
(Copyright, 1927, in the United States, Great Britain and all other countries by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

HANKOW, May 8, via SHANGHAI May 14. — Michael Borodin still professes complete confidence that the left wing of the Nationalist army can drive through Honan and reach Peking before midsummer.

This Russian adviser, whose power has been greater ever since Chiang Kai Shek split the party, has drawn up plans by which the so-called Christian general, Feng Yu Hsiang, will attack along two lines, first, straight north toward Peking; second, southeast toward the Peking-Hankow Railway. Borodin himself, with the Cantonese army, intends to join the Christian general at Cheng Chow on the railway about or soon after the middle of May, when the real battle for Peking will begin.

SUCCESS FORESEEN

"I don't know whether the campaign will last ten days or three months," Borodin told me. "The northern troops may collapse entirely as they have often done in the past Winter as the result of our intensive advance propaganda. If they do collapse, we will get the whole railway, but if they intend to fight, we will be obliged to fight them by a series of manoeuvres with the Christian general's army and with ours."

Borodin, in two interviews yesterday and today with the North American Newspaper Alliance correspondent, displayed all the resources of his extraordinary personality.

One might almost believe the tales which have been circulated in China that he is a hypnotist. His heavy movements, drooping moustache and broad grin make him look like a true Russian Muzhik, but in conversation he exhibits an intellectual keenness and activity rare in any political group, especially among the revolutionaries.

Unlike most confirmed Bolshevists, Borodin possesses a sense of humor which guards him against the wild language and extravagant statements so common among Chinese Radical leaders.

BREAK OPPOSED

Discussing the split in the Kuomintang, he analyzed Chiang Kai Shek's support as being, first, northern military divisions which have been absorbed bodily into the Nanking army; second, the right wing of the Kuomintang people, including many like Wan Fu, pro-Japanese politician who has suddenly remembered that he belonged to the party fifteen years ago; third, "go-betweens of foreign imperialists," otherwise Shanghai bankers, merchants and compradores, who are so terrified by the Communist revolution that they will supply money to anybody willing to shoot down laborers.

Borodin outlined events leading to the break, declaring he had done everything possible to postpone disaster until the last possible minute.

I previously had been convinced by a variety of evidence in Hankow that Borodin, with the Chinese Communists, desired a break because he feared that if the united Kuomintang ever reached Peking the right wingers would crush those of the left. Borodin agreed that this in part was true.

NO REGRET FOR BREAK

"Naturally, if we reached Peking together," he said," the right wing would assume control, having absorbed all the Peking reactionary groups. But I must insist that I tried hard to postpone the break as long as possible. However, now it has happened, I don't regret it. We have clarified the issues immensely, and our revolution is henceforth unimpeded by reactionary elements."

I asked him point blank whether he had not attempted during the past two years to transfer the Kuomingtang frmo a straight Republican Nationalist movement into a Communist revolution. He debated long before replying definitely.

"You must know," he observed, "that a straight Republican Nationalist movement is impossible, or at least ineffective in China."

BROAD REVOLT WANTED

And then at last he said: "While I have never attempted to change the essentials of the Nationalist revolution, I have always been convinced that it would never succeed unless it was made into an agrarian revolution—a thoroughgoing economic movement. There are masses of Chinese peasants. They must be aroused. Another important section of population is the workmen, and they must be aroused. The only method by which peasants and workers can be aroused is revolutionary propaganda.

"We base our whole revolution on the peasants and workers. Without these classes no Nationalist revolution could take place in China. Our labor policy is based on these essential concepts of revolutionary technique, and it has been eminently successful, as the British in Hong Kong discovered.

"Sun Yat Sen realized this in 1924, when the first Congress of the new Kuomintang under his leadership enunciated principles destined to transform the movement into a social economic revolution."

POVERTY NO HANDICAP

I asked whether economic financial pressure and military reverses might force the Hankow Government to give up its effocts to maintain the present regime and revert to the tactics of the ordinary political party without attempting to rule for the present.

"I see no necessity of such a step," Borodin asserted. "While our financial economic position is very serious, it has often been just as bad or worse. Our greatest successes in Canton were accomplished when our revenue was almost nothing.

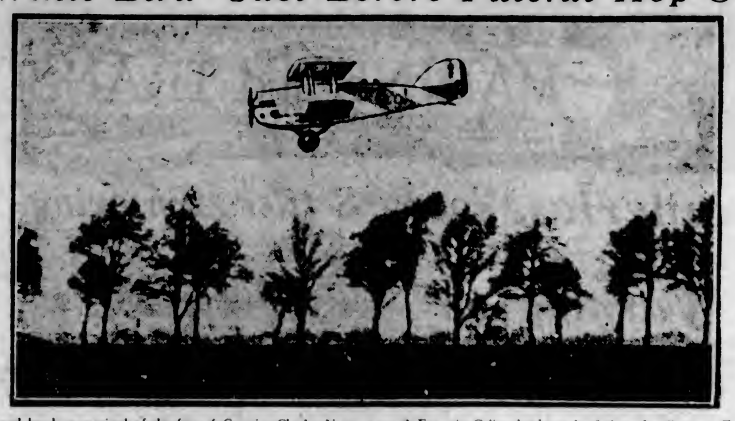

"It is true we now control only one-half of the provinces and receive revenue from only one, but we never have had revenue from more than one province at a time. If we get Peking we still will have revenue from only one province, or at the most two.

GLAD CHIANG IS GONE

"Through the country at large, national revenues have always been appropriated by generals. This has been true so long now that it will take years to centralize and reform the masses. While Chiang Kai Shek was with us he was a bottomless chasm into which we poured the largest part of our revenue. That drain at least has been removed."

Borodin has no illusions whatever about the Chinese capacity for self-government. He said that the revolution, while based on workers and peasants, must continue to be controlled by minority party leaders who can pursue their policy to the logical end. He has a higher opinion of the Christian general than any of the other Chinese military leaders. Borodin says that Feng Yu Hsiang is far more trustworthy than Chiang Kai Shek, because he believes in the social economic revolution.

"Oh, that's simple enough," said the captain; "we sends 'em all a postcard."

REVISE ESTIMATES TO MEET SITUATION

Alderman Marchant Had Public Works Vote Raised Slightly by Council

After persistent effort, Alderman Marchant succeeded in getting the estimates with respect to the public works department supplemented by another $2,100 over what it appeared when the estimates were referred to last night. In pressing for this he said that he did not want to interfere with the mill rate in any way but he was certainly of the opinion that there was to be $5,000 of a clear vote available for the department.

He called attention to the fact that there had originally been $10,000 in the estimates under this heading. When the mayor insisted upon the reduction in the rate and the estimates had to be reduced some $38,000, the public works vote came in for slashing and the item of $10,000 was cut to $5,000. He, however, had been under the impression that this was to be forthcoming without any further cut in it.

He contended that there was need of such a sum as it was necessary to have a sum available in the late part of the year to take care of unemployment that was almost sure to occur.

Explanations followed and it was found that there had been as overdrawing of the department's finances to the extent of $2,100 and this had been taken off of the $5,000 vote by the city comptroller, acting on the advice of the mayor.

The matter was adjusted last night by the voting of an additional $2,100 to take the place of this amount that had been reduced.

Women's Modern Hygiene

More absorbent—
Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

FEW women today cling to the old-time "sanitary pad"—risky and uncertain—because of a new way called KOTEX.

✓ It ends the embarrassment of laundry and disposal. You discard Kotex as easily as tissue.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads. Thus you wear sheer gowns and gay frocks under the most trying conditions.

Also deodorizes, and thus ends all fear of offending. 80% better class women now use it. Doctors widely urge it. Most hospitals employ it.

Costs only a few cents for a package of 12 at any drug or department store. Be sure you get the genuine KOTEX, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Purchase of Nitrogen Lamps Settled After Negotiations With Manufacturers

The City Council last evening authorized the following transactions relative to city owned property:

The lease for seven years of northerly half of lot 593, block 16, to the Victoria Petroleum Ltd., at $75 a month for one year and thereafter at the monthly rate of $100.

The purchase by the Cameron Lumber Company Ltd. for $520 on the usual terms, of lots 6 and 7, block 5, section 4, map 283, situated on North Burnside Road between Delta and Alpha Streets.

The offer of Mr. A. C. Ralfe to purchase for $1,000 cash of lot 5, except the northerly twenty feet thereof, and lot 6 of section 74, plan 737, situated on Verrinder Avenue, near Fort Street.

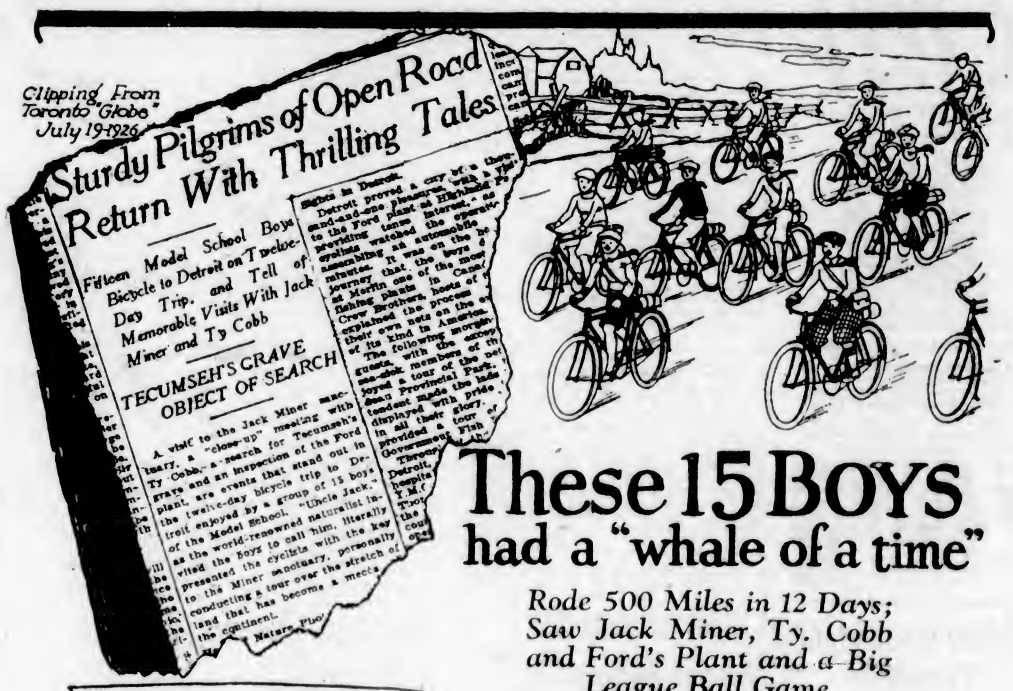

The council reconsidered the matter of the tenders for nitrogen lamps which had been awarded to the the Northern Electric Company at a previous meeting. The Mayor, by letter, suggested the reconsideration in view of the fact that it has come to his attention that two local firms were agreeable to supply the lamps at only one-half of one per cent below the Northern Electric Company. In view of that the Mayor suggested in his letter that for such a small margin of difference a local firm should get it. It was therefore suggested that the local firm of Hawkins & Hayward be awarded the tender.

The Mayor explained that since he wrote the letter, the Northern Electric Company was agreeable to have the sale go through the local representatives, E. G. Prior & Company.

After consideration by the Council in which appreciation of the principle of aiding local firms was praised, it was decided to let the contract stand, as it was regarded as dangerous to interfere with the awarding of public tenders to other than the lowest tenderer.

Rode 500 Miles in 12 Days; Saw Jack Miner, Ty. Cobb and Ford's Plant and a Big League Ball Game

THEY started from Toronto and rode around the head of Lake Ontario to Niagara Falls, then through the Lake Erie Counties to Jack Miner's famous bird sanctuary, where they were shown around the farm by Jack himself; then, on to Windsor and across to Detroit. As guests of Ty. Cobb and the Detroit Baseball Club, they saw the Tigers play in a big league ball game. And they were also shown through Henry Ford's automobile plant.

It was a whale of a trip for fifteen boys and they came home on their wheels stronger, healthier and better in every way than when they left.

Unlawful Canneries, Fish Oil and Logging Plants Draw Warning

British Columbia Coast Structures Built Contrary to Law Requiring Permits From Department of Public Works Elicit Caution From District Engineer for Federal Government

Owners Liable in Ship Collisions; Official Explains Foreshore Rights

Illegal construction of canneries, fish-reduction plants and log-booming grounds at various points along the British Columbia Coast drew a sharp warning yesterday from Mr. J. P. Forde, district engineer for the Federal Department of Public Works, following his return from a tour of the west coast of the Island, of the Queen Charlotte Islands coastline and of the Mainland coast from Prince Rupert south to Vancouver.

"While on the trip," Mr. Forde said yesterday, "I noticed quite a few structures—canneries, fish-reduction plants, log-booming grounds—that have been built recently, or are now in process of construction, without any permission from the Department of Public Works.

"This is directly contrary to law, the Protection of Navigable Waters Act distinctly stating that no structure shall be built in navigable waters unless the site has been approved by the Government, or unless such structures are built and maintained in accordance with plans approved by the Government.

"The works included under this act are bridges, booms, dams, aboiteaux, wharves, docks, piers, tunnels or pipes, telegraph or power cable or wire, and the approaches or other works necessary or appurtenant thereto."

MAY BE DESTROYED

Mr. Forde pointed out that the act gives the Minister of Public Works power to remove or destroy any such structures as are built or placed on a site not approved by the Government, or not built or placed in accordance with approved plans, or not maintained in accordance with such plans and regulations.

He also pointed out that authority to construct such works must be secured from the Department of Public Works beforehand. The act did not make provision for approval after the commencement of construction activities, he added.

"A great many people," Mr. Forde said, "are apparently ingorant of these regulations and of the fact that, by ignoring them, they are breaking the law. In the event of accidents to vessels occurring through collision with such unapproved works, the owners of the latter will be entirely responsible for damages caused.

"There seems to be an impression in some quarters that the securing of foreshore rights from the Dominion or the Provincial Government gives owners of the foreshore rights power to proceed with the erection of structures. But this is not so. The possession of foreshore rights only gives the owner title to the bed of the harbor or river and does not convey a right to place any structure thereon.

NEW DRYDOCK TO GET HUGE FENCE

Iron Wire Structure Seven Feet High and Half-Mile Long to Encircle Graving Dock and Barracks

BIG ELECTRIC CRANE WILL BE READY SOON

An iron fence, seven feet high and about half a mile long will be built around the property comprising the new Songhees Drydock site and the Esquimalt Naval Barracks, Mr. J. P. Forde, district engineer for the Federal Department of Public Works, announced yesterday.

Some of the materials for the new fence have arrived and Messrs. Jones & Rant, contractors, have begun construction activities.

The fence will be constructed of woven wire, supported by iron posts and surmounted by three strands of barbed wire. It will be approximately 2,400 feet in length and will cost $12,500.

All the steel work for the twenty-five-ton electric traveling crane for the Songhees Drydock has now been completed, Mr. Forde stated yesterday, and electricians are now installing the operating machinery.

The largest of its type in British Columbia and one of the largest on the Pacific Coast, the crane will be ready for operation by the end of this month.

FEDERALSHIP OWNERS PLAN TO SUE U. S.

Consolidated Exporters, Limited, Owners of Liquor Carrier Seized at Sea, to Demand Reparation

FIRM'S CLAIM TO EXCEED $50,000

Crew Will Seek Damages for Detention—Loss of Forty Cases of Liquor Is Attributed to "Social Shrinkage"

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—The Consolidated Exporters, Ltd., owners of the Federalship, seized at sea by the United States Coast Guard and released last month after a Federal Court decision, plans to demand of the United States Government reparation totaling between $50,000 and $100,000, Attorney Harold Faulkner, representing the owners, declared today.

Faulkner said that the crew members of the Federalship also planned to file claims for personal damages because they were held in jail from the time the ship was seized until the United States court declared the seizure illegal. Only about forty cases of liquor were found missing from the holds of the ship when a recheck was made of the $1,000,000 cargo, following her release, Faulkner said, adding that this was attributed to "social shrinkage."

Faulkner said that terms of the treaty between the United States and Panama, under whose registry the Federalship sailed, prescribed that adjustments be made by a commission of three—a representative of Panama, one of the United States, and the third a disinterested party. The action agreed on is then to be submitted to the United States Government for execution.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE ON VESSEL

"Princess Elizabeth" Has Been Suggested as Name for Vancouver-Nanaimo Ferry, Now Building in Scotland

DIFFICULTY ARISES BY PRIOR REGISTRY

The new steamer building at the yards of John Brown & Co., Clydebank, Scotland, for the Vancouver-Nanaimo ferry service, is now practically in frame, and good progress is being made with her machinery. The heavy castings are reported to be well in hand.

This information has been received from the builders by the B.C. Coast Steamship Service during the last day or two.

Captain J. W. Troup, manager of the Coast Service, has received a suggestion in writing that the new vessel should receive the name of "Princess Elizabeth," in honor of the King's granddaughter. It happens there is already one vessel of that name in British registry of Belgian Government ownership, and possibly such a duplication might be discouraged by the authorities. At anyrate, the matter has not yet been taken up with the Canadian Pacific Railway executive, although a decision may be made this Summer.

The practice now is to retain the name "Princess" for passenger vessels, and to give the cargo vessels and tugs the names of geographical terms on this coast, as the Nootka and Kyoquet.

Five Towboats Of One Company Enter Big Race

Expecting the Burrard Chief to win the speed pennant for the port of Victoria, the Island Tug & Barge Company yesterday entered this towboat and four others in the May 24 race, which will be open to all tugs plying the waters of Victoria and vicinity during the Empire Day festivities.

The entries of the Island Tug & Barge Company are: Burrard Chief, Capt. W. Warren; Hopkins, Capt. J. Barlow; Quinitsa, Capt. G. Coulson; Edna Grace, Capt. J. Gillam, and Respond, Capt. J. M. McPhee.

City Clerk M. F. Hunter will receive entries for the race at the City Hall up to and including the night before the contest.

Mr. Palmer found that Salt Spring was strongly in favor of the Victoria connection.

SHIPPER SEEKS PACIFIC PORT

REPRESENTATIVE OF UNITED FRUIT COMPANY TO PAY VISIT TO VICTORIA

Is on Tour of Inspection of Ports on Pacific Coast—To Choose Distributing Centre

Inspecting Pacific Coast ports to select a distributing point for the United Fruit Company, Mr. Louis M. Porter, general traffic manager for the big American firm's distributing organization, the Fruit Dispatch Company, of New York, is expected to visit this city within the course of the next few days.

For the last month Mr. Porter has been inspecting every Pacific Coast port of any size and soon will return to New York, where the selection of the company's western port will be decided upon.

Whatever city is selected will be the only port of entry of the line of the United Fruit Company's steamers and will be made the main distributing point for the entire Pacific Coast.

The immediate plan of the company, according to Mr. Porter, is to have one sailing a week, the steamers plying between the Pacific Coast port and Central America and Mexico. The number of vessels will be gradually increased.

The cargoes of the vessels will be entirely of bananas, and with one ship in service, 150 carloads of the fruit will be received and shipped through the port each week.

Three Vessels Get Repairs at Yarrows Plant

The freighter Amur, of the Coastwise Steamship & Barge Company, was hauled out on Yarrows marine ways for cleaning and painting yesterday afternoon and, with work proceeding on the Chris Moeller and the Lilloet, the well-known Esquimalt firm faces a busy period.

It is expected that the Amur will be on the ways for several days.

The five-masted auxiliary schooner Chris Moeller, of Customs Commission fame, is alongside the wharf, being caulked in preparation for another voyage. Released by the Customs Department a few days ago, the schooner will leave on Thursday or Friday for Vancouver, where she will take on a cargo of lumber.

The Government Hydrographic Survey vessel Lilloet is undergoing general repairs. She will be ready for sea in two or three days it is expected.

TENDERS INVITED FOR NEW SHIPS

YARROWS AMONG FIRMS REQUESTED TO FIGURE ON INDIES STEAMERS

Vessels Will Carry 230 Passengers and Have Space for 3,000 Tons of Cargo

MONTREAL, May 16.—Details of the requirements for the five new steamers which the Canadian Government is having built for the West Indies trade were issued this evening by the Canadian National Railways, who will operate the boats.

Tenders have been asked for and five Canadian shipbuilding companies have been requested to make their submissions, not later than June 15. These are the Halifax Shipyards, Ltd.; Canadian Vickers, Ltd., Montreal; Davie Shipbuilding Co., Lauzon, Que.; Burrard Drydock Co., Vancouver, and Yarrows Ltd., Victoria. It is expected that at least three of the five ships will be ready by the beginning of 1928.

These ships will be employed on the eastern run, serving the Windward Islands and sailing to Demerara from Halifax, N.S., and Saint John, N.B. It is hoped to have them carry 3,000 tons of cargo. The maximum draft will be twenty-four feet. They will be fitted with passenger accommodation for 100 first class, thirty second class and fifty third class and fifty deck passengers. All five vessels will be approximately the same size, but the "banana boats" for the Jamaica service will be constructed on finer lines. In addition they will be fitted with cold storage accommodation.

RUSSIAN ROUTE BANNED

PEKING, May 16.—The British Legation has received from the home Government instructions that its nationals proceeding to England must not travel by the Siberian route for the present.

Obviously these instructions were given because of the resentment engendered in Russia over the recent raid and search of the Soviet house in London by the British police.

CITY WILL HAVE FLOAT IN PARADE

Further Promises for Street Procession on Tuesday Are Being Received by Committee

The city will be represented in the parade on Tuesday, it was reported to the committee by Alderman Harvey yesterday. Two floats have also been promised by the Salvation Army.

The committee desires it to be understood that there will be prizes for children, the impression having prevailed that no prizes would be given in the street procession.

Notice has been received from the Interlake Tissue Company, of Toronto, that it will give a prize for the best automobile decorated with Canadian products.

Announcement was made yesterday of the cancellation of the City Temple picnic, set for Tuesday, in order not to interfere with the holiday here.

The committee has received an offer from the Shrine Band to play on the evening of the holiday.

The work of the subcommittees is progressing well, it was announced last evening.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

Esquimalt—To find the depth of water on the sill of the dry dock at any tide, add 16.6 ft. to the height of high water as above given.

NOOTKA TO BE READY JUNE 1

B.C. COAST SERVICE VESSEL BEING EQUIPPED WITH FISH OIL TANKS

Nineteen Pilchard Plants Prepare for Big Season on West Coast of Vancouver Island

With nineteen plants making preparations for the biggest season yet in the West Coast pilchard oil and meal industry, the B.C. Coast Service of the C.P.R. announced yesterday that the freighter Nootka would be ready for service with tanks of 140,000 gallons capacity installed at the first of next month.

Frank Waterhouse & Company of Canada recently announced that the freighter Famous would be equipped with tanks to handle from 60,000 to 80,000 gallons of oil in the West Coast service.

Tenders are now being invited for the construction of storage tanks at Ogden Point so that this city may have a share in the oil business.

The Princess Maquinna, the Princess Ena and the Arran Firth will ply in the West Coast trade this season in addition to the two oil carriers mentioned above. These vessels will handle fishmeal, canned fish and general cargo.

THREE HORSES DIE ON RAILWAY TRIP

Other Animals May Have to Be Destroyed After Journey From West to Toronto

TORONTO, May 16.—When a car containing twenty-three horses billed to Toronto from the Alberta Stampede Co. reached here last night, three of the animals were found dead, a fourth died as it was being unloaded and seven others may have to be destroyed. Humane inspectors found that some of the horses had been trampled on in the car and that some were lame with infected legs.

The animals were loaded at Lyalta, Alberta, by Peter Hagenson, and were sent here to be turned out into pasture at Clarkson. Veterinary opinion is that they have been range fed and that the food given them in transit did them no good. Only special food can save the rest, they say.

Oak Bay Will Give $400 to Jubilee Fund

The sum of $400 was appropriated by the Oak Bay Council last night for the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation celebration, and it was decided to appoint representatives of the municipality for inclusion on the general celebration committee.

The Council also made a grant of $25 to the Oak Bay School Athletic Association.

The sale of two lots, one on St. Patrick Street at the price of $380, and one on Cadboro Heights was approved. The Council refused an offer of $125 for a waterfront lot near the Chinese Cemetery.

TWO FREIGHTERS TO ARRIVE TODAY

Myrtlebank Will Load Lumber Cargo —Holland-Amerika Liner to Unload Freight

The Bank Line freighter Myrtlebank is due here from Mainland ports today to load 1,500,000 feet of lumber at the Rithet Consolidated piers, King Brothers, local agents for the vessel, announced yesterday.

The Holland-Amerika Line steamship Grootendyk, inbound from Rotterdam and London, will dock at Rithet's Pier No. 2 at 8:30 o'clock this morning, it was announced last night by Mr. A. Moffat, general agent here for the joint North Pacific Coast service of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company and the Holland-Amerika Line.

The Grootendyk will discharge 125 tons of cargo here.

On May 22 the freighter Astoria will make port here, according to advices received by King Brothers yesterday.

National Railway Wins Rupert Assessment Case

VANCOUVER, May 16.—Following judgment of Mr. Justice Gregory, by which the assessment of lands in Prince Rupert owned by the Canadian National Railway (G.T.P.) was reduced, Mr. A. Alexander has asked the Judge to specify the assessment on the various parcels in question. The application has been made to His Lordship here.

The judgment, in effect, by allowing the company's appeal from the Court of Revision, reduced the assessment from about $3,000,000 to approximately $1,500,000 and cut the company's bill for taxes from $120,000 to $60,000.

Decision on the point was reserved by the judge.

TROPIC DISEASES BEING STUDIED

Development of Hot Countries Depends Upon Knowledge of Menaces to Be Encountered

MONTREAL, May 16.—The great part which the tropical countries will play, and must play, in the future of the world, and the reason their development has been thus far retarded, were detailed to a large audience in Convocation Hall recently by Dr. Oscar Klotz, of the Department of Pathology, University of Toronto, who during the past year has carried on important researches in Africa, upon yellow fever. Dr. Klotz, who spoke under the auspices of the Royal Canadian Institute, on "The Conquering of the Tropics," carried on his work in Africa for the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation. He has also spent a number of years investigating disease in other tropical countries.

"For many years," Dr. Klotz declared, "repeated attempts have been made to open up tropical lands for the development of their natural resources, but the large majority of these attempts have suffered failure mainly through the lack of adequate knowledge of the conditions of disease which infests them." Dr. Klotz referred in detail to a number of the diseases peculiar to the tropics. "It is only through the knowledge of these diseases," he said, "that it will be possible to enter the tropics with impunity. The loss of life and money, in attempting to establish plantations or to develop industry and commerce, have been enormous, and much discouragement has been felt by many in undertaking further progress.

GREAT WORK AHEAD

"The largest work for the coming century will be to make the tropics assume their proper place in the advance of civilization. The tropical countries with their natural wealth, their storehouse of foods, and their mineral resources are becoming essential for the organized communities in the temperate zones. Not only are they needed for the supply of food for an ever increasing population, but their products are also essential to the industries to supply them with raw materials for the distribution of finished products. There are but few of the civilized countries which today are self-sustaining, and which are able to supply their people with foodstuffs and their industries with the necessary raw stuffs. All of them must go afield beyond their boundaries and the competition between the many countries is becoming ever keener. The one source of supply which at the present time is not playing its part in the world development is the tropics. The evidences which will be made there will not be determined by belligerent forces of arms, but by the scentific determination of those features which will make it possible for the white man to utilize to the best advantages the products of the hot climates."

FILM INDUSTRY PICKS CALGARY

Studio Ranch Will Be Established and Productions Will Be Marketed in England

CALGARY, May 16.—Calgary will have a fully developed motion picture industry in the near future, according to an announcement made by Thos. B. Walsh, independent producer, and Neil Hart, the well known western film star, who was formerly with the Universal company. Messrs. Walsh and Hart arrived in Calgary looking over possible sites upon which to establish a studio ranch. The camera laboratories and indoor shots will also be made in the Calgary district. In other words a permanent branch of the industry will be established here.

Mr. Walsh, who is a native of Australia, declared that he was unable to give any estimate of the amount likely to be spent in the venture and he refused to give details regarding the cast to be employed, but he stated that it will be his purpose to produce western pictures and that he intends to use the atmosphere of the district to the fullest advantage.

This move has been brought about because of the quota law passed restricting to a degree, the showing of films in Great Britain to British made films, and, according to Mr. Walsh, the market for these films will be almost entirely British, including, of course, the markets of the Dominions. The local productions will be produced on an independent basis, because, Mr. Walsh pointed out, the exhibitors in Great Britain are purchasing independent productions as much as, if not more than, those syndicated.

The selection of the Calgary district has been decided upon after consideration has been given to practically every other part of the Empire, because of its climate and light conditions. It lies also in the heart of the real western territory with the proper scenery, and characters to draw from.

It is understood that Neil Hart, considered one of the most outstanding stars of western films, will play the leading roles in a number of these pictures. Westerners have been chosen because for continuous demand and box office returns they are the most reliable.

NATURAL ADVANTAGES

In addition to the reason afforded by the British quota law for the decision to produce these pictures on Canadian soil, Mr. Walsh pointed out that all the scenes in the neighborhood of Hollywood have been used so often that they are being worn out and it is now becoming necessary to go in some instances hundreds of miles from the studio to get new outdoor locations. With Calgary as a centre and with the foothills and mountains, together with plenty of river and prairie scenery at the very back door of the studio, the problem of transportation will be practically elliminated.

The presence of real Indian tribes, together with the Mounted Police, to say nothing of the ranchmen and cattle ranges, make the local situation ideal for the making of these pictures. "Every negro in and around Hollywood has appeared as an Indian in some picture or other," Mr. Walsh declared.

The establishment of this branch of the industry in Calgary will throw open a new department for employment in this district, because, aside from the actual members of the cast, technicians, carpenters and many other forms of labor will be employed. It will mean the erection of properly constructed buildings, and the organization of chemical laboratories where the pictures may be developed and printed.

The visitors were met here by Guy Weadick, who went with them to High River, where they were the guests of the board of trade at the noon luncheon. Later, they will spend some time in the Highwood and districts west of Calgary.

NOT VERY FLATTERING

Visitor—I suppose you don't mind my being in your field, Mr. Hodge?

SECOND HIGHEST MOUNTAIN FOUND

Discovery Announced by Major Kenneth Mason in Describing His Expedition

LONDON.—(By Mail.)—Lecturing before the Royal Geographical Society, Major Kenneth Mason, of the Royal Irish Engineers, told the story of his expedition, carried out last year with the sanction of the Indian Government, into the Shaksgam Valley and the Aghil Range, which lie near the frontier between Kashmir and Chinese Turkestan, in a mountain system which includes "K2," the second highest mountain in the world. For nearly forty years, he said, no European, and most probably no human being, had been in that part of Shaksgam, which Sir Francis Younghusband discovered and explored, first in 1877, after crossing a great part of Asia from Peking to India.

Major Mason said that no member of his party in the recent expedition actually set foot upon Sir Francis' route, but, as a result of last year's venture, the head basin of the Shaksgam, its sources and upper tributaries, and its first big feeder glacier had now been discovered, explored and surveyed. Photographs had been taken and a plane-table map made; a large part of the Aghil Range had been reconnoitered and surveyed, and a very large tributary to the Shaksgam River, whose existence was unsuspected, had been discovered. There was still, however, a gap of about six miles between two surveyed ridges, within which the middle Shaksgam must lie, and Sir Francis Younghusband remained the only white man who had been there.

A large part of the route followed by the expedition was through more or less unknown ground, and the lecturer described several scenes of striking grandeur. He referred, for instance, to a view from the mountains east of the Kyagar glacier.

AT GREAT ALTITUDE

This took its rise from the northern wall of the Karakoram Range, which here attained an altitude of 23,000 feet directly under the "Apsarasas group" of the Workmans, which fell very steeply to the glacier head, in a series of broken icefalls and Bergschrunde. The head was divided by two long promotory spurs into three head feeder glaciers, that from the east being subdivided into three subsidiary heads, that on the west swinging round from the northern face of Teram Kangri, which from this side showed a great rounded snowcap, seamed with Bergschrunde, and impossible to climb.

At the foot of the ridge they were on flowed, rolled, jumped and tossed the chaotic stream of the glacier. For five or six miles from its snout it was an amazing jumble of ice pinnacles, rising to 200 feet in height. Occasionally pools of clear sapphire-colored water and rare patches of longitudinal gravel moraine lay almost hidden among the seracs, but the whole surface presented an icy chaos.

Of another view he said: "From a little under 19,000 feet we looked across a deep valley—we called it the Kalmuk Lungpa—draining a little north of west. At a distance of about four or five miles this valley turned either to the north or south, or joined the trough of a larger valley lying across it. The Kalmuk Lungpa was enclosed on the south by a rocky crest, draped with glaciers of a dazzling whiteness. Beyond this crest was a second and a third carrying some fine peaks, over 22,000 feet. To the left of these rose Gasherbrum, 26,470 feet, the 'Hidden Peak' of Sir Martin Conway, once more revealed in indescribable beauty. And to the west a serrated line of jagged peaks of 22,000 feet was dwarfed by the mighty pyramid of the second mountain of our Earth, the stainless, virgin summit of which played with many tiny wisps of drifting cloud."

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT

They had a dispute, and agreed to leave it to the military expert.

"What bullet," they asked, "do you consider the deadliest?"

For several minutes he remained in a brown study. Then he looked up with the air of one who has settled the matter finally and definitely—

"The one that hits," he said.

The finest thing in the world to keep your stomach in tip-top shape is 15 to 30 drops of Beigel's Syrup in a glass of water. Any drug store. (Advt.)

NEW YORK, May 16.—Reactionary tendencies were quite pronounced in today's stock market, closing quotations disclosing a rather long list of declines ranging from 1 to 7½ points. General Motors sagged from 196¼ to 192⅞, closing two points lower at 193¼.

Heaviness of United States Steel common (old stock) reflected the recent decrease in steel production and consumption. Allied Chemical, Brooklyn, Union Gas, Case Threshing, Commercial Solvents "B," General Asphalt, General Railway Signal, R. H. Macey, Pullman, United Fruit, United States Cast Iron Pipe and Woolworth, all recorded substantial recessions. Dupont closed 3¾ points lower at 238¾.

Railroad stocks yielded with the industrials. Nickel Plate common, selling ex-dividend today, dropped from 221 to 216¾, off 1¾.

Trading in the bond market was unusually light and prices were inclined to sag. Last night's heavy volume of new offerings undoubtedly had much to do with the slowing up of the market.

Chesapeake Corporation 5's were again among the market leaders, although the demand fell off sharply and there were evidences of profit-taking in the late dealings.

WINNIPEG GRAIN TRADING SLACKENS

Market Dull Throughout Most of Session—Selling Rush Comes Late in Day

WINNIPEG, May 16.—Apart from a belated rush by tired holders to unload, trading on the grain exchange today ran into one of the dullest periods in several weeks. There was some spreading, but foreign demand was lacking. The market was sluggish at the close, with quotations 1⅛ to 1⅜ below Saturday's finish.

Neither the future nor cash prices were in demand. The futures were especially quiet and at times the pit was deserted.

Winnipeg Grain Letter

(Supplied by R. P. Clark & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, May 16.—The wheat market was a dull, narrow affair today, trade volume quite small, with prices holding mostly steady at around Saturday's close, but weakened during last hour. There was no export business locally, and the weather throughout Western Canada while fine and warmer over the week-end, was cloudy today. The market lacked leadership, and trade inclined to await further developments. Export buying has been quiet for three days now due to heavy purchases early in the week, but European consumption is very large and continued buying is anticipated. Cash market quiet. Fair demand for the various grades, but no urgency. Flour demand just fair. Offerings light. The toughs are lagging, especially numbers two and three. Canadian exports up to today were about 260,000,000 bushels, leaving approximately 75,000,000 bushels to dispose of from now to August 1. Country deliveries in Western Canada last week 1,382,000 bushels, bringing total deliveries to date of last year's crop 323,000,000 bushels as compared to 384,700,000 bushels for 1925 crop. Wheat seeding is progressing and with favorable weather will probably be finished this week, with a decreased acreage highly probable. United States Winter wheat crop conditions continue favorable, but in Spring wheat States crop is late, as in Canada. World's shipments this week were 18,867,000 bushels, of which North America cleared 9,355,000 bushels. United States visible supply showed a good decrease of 3,011,000 bushels for week. Winnipeg closed 1 3-4 to 1 3-8 lower around the bottom.

Coarse grains—There was very little feature to these markets today, demand being poor. Prices held fairly steady until wheat weakened, and these markets also declined. Oats are considered too high for the existing demand, and many large interests are disposed to sell. There is a better demand for barley, but rye continues dull.

Flax—Trade light with a lower tendency. Undertone is firm, but crusher's demand is not urgent.

Chicago Grain

(Supplied by B.C. Bond Corpn., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, May 16.—Wheat market's action disappointed the bulls and ran into good selling on bulges, the prices averaging lower on strength in face of unfavorable crop comments from parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, which had little effect upon values, and the local element was inclined to the bear side. Export sales, 250,000 to 300,000 bushels in all positions. Liverpool closed unchanged to ¼d lower with Buenos Aires one cent higher at noon. July and September corn sold at new highs on the crop, with a local trader an aggressive buyer, but profit-taking through commission houses developed and prices reacted rather sharply to under Saturday's finish. Spot corn basis was one-half to one cent lower as compared with May. Oats were firmer early but eased with other grains. Rye was dull and lower.

Liverpool is due to open ⅝ to 1⅜d lower Tuesday.

OLD GIRLS SHOW ESTEEM FOR HEAD

SURPRISE FUNCTION STAGED AT DUNCAN IN HONOR OF RETIRED SCHOOLMISTRESS

Address and Cheque Presented to Miss Wilson—Many Former Pupils Take Part in Event

DUNCAN, May 16.—A delightful function was staged at The Cliffs here on Saturday afternoon, when an old girls' reunion was held as a surprise on Miss Wilson, who had won the love and esteem of the pupils who had attended the school, of which she was headmistress throughout its duration of over twenty-five years. The school has been closed for several years past. Mrs. G. G. Share, Mrs. J. L. Gibbs, Mrs. J. S. Robinson, Mrs. W. E. Corfield, Miss Dorothy Bazett and Miss Arabella Welsh formed themselves into the committee which carried the arrangements through to such a successful completion. Miss Wilson was the recipient of a beautiful address on parchment, the work of one of the old pupils, Mrs. H. F. B. Stamer, on which were ninety autograph signatures of old pupils (some 135 pupils had been enrolled), and at the same time Miss Wilson was presented with a substantial cheque, as a token of esteem from the old girls. The address was presented by Mrs. Walcott, one of the oldest pupils.

About fifty attended the tea during the afternoon, the majority of whom were old pupils, and in some cases the parents attended. Mrs. J. L. Gibbs supervised the tea arrangements.

Amongst those present were: Miss Wilson, Miss Maud Wilson and Mr. R. Wilson, Miss Hall and Mr. W. H. Elkington; Mrs. H. E. Donald, Mrs. E. M. Anketel-Jones (nee Rosamund Donald), of Chemainus; Mr. and Mrs. Coppock and Mr. C. Coppock, of Westholme; Mrs. J. Burchett (nee Elizabeth Sherman), Mrs. Richard Good (nee Miss Gwen Beaver Potts) and Mr. Beaver Potts, of Nanaimo; Miss Isabel Sherman, of Cowichan Bay; Mrs. Muriel Wade (nee Muriel Christmas), of Duncan; Mrs. A. C. Wilson (nee Annie Paterson), Mrs. H. Sutherland (nee Phyllis Lomas) and Miss Gladys Lomas, of Lake Cowichan; Miss Muriel Price, Mrs. J. L. Gibbs (nee Ruby Alexander), Miss E. Bazett, Miss Dorothy Bazett, Miss Norah Bazett, Mr. Lawrence Bazett, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Whittome and two children, Mrs. J. H. Whittome, Mrs. Paitson, Mrs. H. F. B. Stamer (nee Kathleen Whittome) and little daughter, Mrs. Adams (nee Kitty Payne), Mrs. Bullen, Mrs. Jamieson (nee Elsie Bullen) and young son, and Miss Janet Wilde, of Victoria; Mrs. Scott (nee Molly Rivac Carnac), Chemainus; Mrs. G. G. Share (nee Edith Maitland-Dougall), Mrs. Hassell (nee Charlie Robertson), Miss Mary Waldon, Mr. Welsh and Miss Arabella Welsh, Mrs. Walcott (nee Mary Roberts), Mrs. C. M. Lamb and Miss Dorothy Lamb, Miss Marjorie Barrie, Miss Nell Mellin, Miss Gwen Hopkins, Mrs. W. E. Corfield (nee Joyce Holt-Wilson), Mrs. Carter (nee Zephie Holmes), of Crofton, and Mrs. W. D. de B. FINE MUSICAL SHOW GIVEN AT MARIGOLD

Junior Women's Auxiliary Responsible for Entertainment Which Delights Crowded House

MARIGOLD, May 16.—An exceptionally fine musical entertainment was given in the Marigold Hall last Friday evening by the Junior W.A. assisted by friends. There was a large and very appreciative audience filling the spacious hall to capacity. The platform was very prettily draped with flags of the Empire and bunches of flowers and evergreens here and there made the whole a most artistic background to the pretty little maidens who filled the major part of the programme.

Proceedings were opened by the Rev. J. Nixon, of St. Columba, who took this opportunity to warmly praise and thank Mr. and Mrs. Veals, of Marigold, for their untiring and patient zeal in training the young people to the musical efficiency and eloquence they would exhibit that evening. He then requested that the audience would join the young people in singing the first verse of "O, Canada" in unison. The audience rose en masse and responded heartily.

Mrs. Chrow, diocesan superintendent of the Junior W.A., here gave interesting data of the children's work and the organization, and of the widespread influence it had for the good of the young people and the Anglican churches.

Miss Margaret Pringle rendered two pianoforte solos with taste, and was followed by little Miss Joyce Greenwood in a recitation, "Just One Penny," very prettily delivered. Another tiny girl, Jean Routley, elicited hearty applause in a song, "Dollies' Bedtime."

Another item was a song and chorus, wherein Miss Ruth Foster took the solo with distinction. A vocal solo was given by Miss Winnie Parmiter, a winsome maiden with nicely trained voice, whose clear notes and well enunciated words, were a treat to hear.

Two songs of patriotic nature were sung by Mr. Routley with truly martial spirit, to Mrs. Routley's accompaniment, and were vociferously encored. This gentleman is a much valued addition to the musical talent of Marigold.

Twelve girls gave a humorous sketch which was greatly applauded, and they also contributed flag drill with vocal accompaniment, which was extremely pretty and effective.

The tiny tots gave song and action in "Here We Go Round the Mulberry Bush," and finally came the gem of the evening by the school children, musical festival pieces, part songs, conducted by their teacher, Mr. S. Veals, who has certainly put Garden City on the map for some good music. Mrs. Veals was a most able accompanist.

The whole entertainment reflected great credit on Mr. and Mrs. Veals, as well as on Mr. Routley, who is the highly capable headmaster of Mackenzie Avenue School.

JUNIOR INSTITUTE HAS BUSY SESSION

Plans Made for Club Dance—Picnic to Be Held at Willows Beach

KEATING, May 16.—The South Saanich Junior Institute Club met at the home of Misses Mable and Grace Miller, Saanichton, on Saturday afternoon, when there was an excellent attendance and two new members were enrolled.

Business regarding the recent annual club dance in May was disposed of, and plans for the annual club picnic were made. It was decided to hold this at Willows Beach, Victoria, on Saturday afternoon, June 11. Committees were appointed to take charge of the sports and afternoon programme and refreshments, and a very jolly time is being anticipated.

A discussion followed regarding plans for the raising of money during the Summer. It was hoped to hold a home cooking sale in Victoria during the Summer and further plans will be made for this later.

A letter was received from the South Saanich Women's Institute inviting the members to a tennis party and social afternoon at some date during the Summer. The members accepted with thanks and will suggest the date at the Senior Institute meeting.

During the afternoon, tea was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held on Thursday afternoon, June 9, at the home of the Misses Ruby and Ona Young.

CHEMAINUS GUIDES RAISE USEFUL SUM

Girls Render Delightful Programme at Entertainment in Aid of Summer Camp Fund

CHEMAINUS, May 16.—On Friday evening, under the management of Mrs. Dobison and Mrs. McMillan, a delightful entertainment was given here by the Girl Guides, Brownies and Cubs. The various items on the programme were extremely well rendered, reflecting much credit for the careful training given. The cantata and the play were exceptionally pretty, the gaily-colored dresses, representing the different flowers, producing a most artistic effect. The costumes worn in the minuet were in dainty pastel shades which, with the powdered wigs worn, presented a charmingly quaint picture. The laughing song by the Cubs was particularly hilarious and infectious.

The programme was as follows: Opening address, Mr. Spurling (chairman); May Festival cantata, with Dorothy Fraser as May Queen, Kathleen Porter and Margaret Laidlaw, maids of honor; Richmond Ross and Clarence Work, pages; Harry Olsen and Frank Spurling, Jacks-in-the-Green. Braiding the Maypole, Girl Guides; play, "The Visit of the Flowers, Brownies; minuet, by Margaret Dobinson, Dorothy Murray, Christina McKenzie, Freda Gilroy, Margaret Laidlaw, Myrtle McGladrey; Joan Watson and Dora Spurling; laughing song, the Cubs; dialogue, "Miss Priscilla's Cat," by Dora Spurling and Christina McKenzie; Japanese Fan Song, Girl Guides.

The proceeds of the entertainment amounted to $53, which will go towards the fund for the Guide Summer camp.
